VERDICT OF $1500 FOR THE PLAINTIFFS

In Case of Goulet vs. the City of Lowell—Case of Smart vs. Dana Resumed

After deliberating all night the jury this morning reported a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs in the case of Goulet vs. the City of Lowell, and Smart vs. Dana, an action for alleged injuries sustained by Katherine Goulet by falling on a defective sidewalk in Salem street in December, 1910. The amount awarded the plaintiffs was $1500. This case was given to the jury yesterday, and it was only this morning that a decision was reached.

The case of Smart vs. Dana, an action of tort for alleged personal injuries by Joseph Smart, a boy, who claims he was struck and injured by the defendant's automobile in Gorham street, which was started in superior court on Monday, was resumed this morning.

Among the witnesses heard for the defense today were Mr. Dana, Mrs. Dana, Mrs. Charles Harris and Mrs. Chester Smith.

Mrs. Harris testified that she was in the automobile when the accident occurred and was sitting on the right side of the rear seat of the car. She said she was looking to the right side of the street when she saw the boy who was injured jump from the sidewalk into the path of the ongoing automobile, which at that time was being driven at a moderate rate of speed. She also testified she saw the boy strike the right mud guard and saw him fall backward. This she said was between the hours of 1.30 and 2 p. m.

Mrs. Chester Smith was then called to the witness stand and she testified that at the time of the accident the automobile was being driven very slowly. Mr. Dana was at the wheel and seated next to him in the front seat was Mrs. Dana. Witness and Mrs. Harris occupied the rear seat. Inasmuch as she was seated on the left side of the car, witness said she did not see the accident.

PONTIFF IS DYING

Lawyer Who Drew Up Will of the Late Pope Leo Summoned to Vatican—End Approaching

ROME, April 16.—1.10 p. m.—The pope was disturbed more than usual by his cough this morning. It has become much more troublesome.

The temperature of the pope varied frequently during the forenoon. Dr. Amici visited him again just before noon when he found an almost imperceptible rise had taken place since early morning.

4.35 p. m.—The pope had an alarming coughing spell this afternoon, almost causing suffocation. The attack was followed by such exhaustion that those attending the pontiff feared the worst.

5.45 p. m.—Subsequent to the attack of coughing the pope had a period of depression but after a rest he appeared relieved. At this hour his condition is considered to be stationary.

Pope Near Death
ROME, Wednesday, April 16.—All Rome is now convinced that the pope is very near death.

The grave character of the latest bulletins, the reappearance of all the ominous symptoms in still more aggravated form and the hurried preparations for the inevitable that are being made, all indicate that the end is approaching.

That the pope is aware of his desperate condition is proved by the admission of one vatican prelate. Discussing himself of all attempts at concealment, he declared the most disquieting fact, aside from the steady progress of the disease, was that the holy father seemed unable to shake off his extreme melancholy and depression.

Lawyer Summoned
1.35 a. m.—The lawyer Patriarca, who represents the Holy See, was summoned to the vatican this morning. The same lawyer drew up the last testament of Pope Leo XIII. and the inference is that he has been asked to do the same for Pope Pius X. Signor Patriarca was summoned after Monsignor Marchisiani, the pope's physician, had a long conference with Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state. Early in the morning the pope's sisters entered the vatican and were received by Mgr. Parolin, the pope's nephew, who held them waiting in an ante-chamber until the doctors had ended their visit. They then entered the pope's chamber. Later they repaired to an adjoining chapel, where they heard two masses celebrated, one by Mgr. Bressan and the other by Mgr. Parolin.

Private but reliable information as to the pope's condition this morning is to the effect that while he is again without fever today he is weaker than at this time yesterday.

An Italian military dirigible balloon flew over St. Peter's and the vatican today and as it did so the occupants waved the Italian flag as an act of homage to the aged pontiff.

$75,000 LOAN ORDER FOR WATER MAINS

Presented to Municipal Council—$75,000 Paving Order Put Over—Other News

At a meeting of the municipal council held this forenoon a date was set for a hearing on a $75,000 loan order for the extension of water mains in this city. Action on the $75,000 loan order for street paving was put over.

Mayor O'Donnell called to order at 11.35. Commissioner Donnelly was absent on account of sickness.

Several petitions for pole locations, wire attachments, etc., were properly referred.

Petitions for street improvements, abatements of sewer assessments and new sewers were referred to the commissioner of streets and highways.

Claims for land damages were referred to the city solicitor.

The petition of Maurice Mulcahy to maintain a lunch cart at the corner of Jackson and Central streets, was granted as was also the petition of Mrs. Sarah Burns for the maintenance of a lunch cart at the corner of Broad and Paige streets.

Because of the illness of Mr. Donnelly no action was taken on the $75,000 loan order for street paving.

Hearings on a number of pole locations were set for April 29, at 2 o'clock p. m.

$75,000 Loan Order
An order providing for the extension of water mains, a loan order for $75,000 to be paid in 20 years, was submitted by Alderman Barrett and read by the mayor.

The order provides for a 24-inch main from the present force main, in West Sixth street, then to continue northwesterly along West Sixth street to Lakeview avenue, thence southwesterly across Merrimack river to a point to be determined by the engineer; thence southwesterly to corner of Hall and Cabot streets to connect there with present 20-inch main extension from the present terminus at or about Cross street through Adams street, to Liberty square through Liberty square to corner of Cushing street.

Third: Laying 15-inch main to be as follows: From present terminus of 16-inch main at corner of Church and Central streets in a southwesterly direction, through Appleton street, through Thordike street, across Thordike street, along Chalmers street, crossing the railroad to corner of Westford street, through Westford street to Howard street.

The interest and principal payments will be made from the receipts of the water department, and not from the tax levy. A hearing on the order will be held April 29, Mr. Brown was opposed to the order.

On the petition of Charles Kilpatrick and others for a sewer through Fairfax and Fleming streets it was voted to give a hearing on April 27, at 2 p. m.

400,000 ON STRIKE IN BELGIUM

Ranks of Strikers Increased—Lack of Fuel Causes Alarm—More Plants May Close

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 16.—In a statement issued today by the ministry of the interior it is said that 257,000 men have joined the national political strike of the Belgian workers, who have chosen this means of forcing the grant of manhood suffrage in Belgium and the abolition of the system by which wealthy citizens are given plural voting power. The socialist leaders on the other hand assert that the total number of strikers is over 400,000.

Reports from various parts of the provinces show that in some places the movement has been highly successful while in others, more especially the districts under the control of the Catholic Workmen's unions, the men appear to be lukewarm in their sympathy.

No Violence Reported
Violence has been the exception since the order to quit work was given on Monday, only a few cases of destruction of property or interference with non-strikers having occurred.

It is stated today that the Belgian government finds itself with a considerably smaller supply of coal to run the state railroads than was supposed, and this is likely to be exaggerated this week's crippling transport facilities.

Lack of Fuel Causes Alarm
Lack of fuel also, it is said, will cause the stoppage of many electric and gas plants and prevent many thousands of non-strikers from working.

Emile Vandervelde, the socialist leader, after an automobile tour of the provinces of Hainaut and Namur, said: "Our comrades make splendid sacrifices for a just cause. All business is stagnated throughout the industrial district. Of the 205,000 workmen in the two provinces 163,000 are striking."

DEATH OF POPULAR YOUNG PRIEST

Rev. Fr. Saunders Fatally Injured While Driving In Dracut

While driving leisurely along Lakeview avenue, in Collinsville, late yesterday afternoon, behind a horse owned for many years by his father, Rev. Edward F. Saunders, one of the best known of the younger priests of the archdiocese, and a native of Lowell, was thrown from his carriage and almost instantly killed. Master Joseph McAvinnue, son of Dr. Frank McAvinnue, who accompanied him, was also thrown out, but escaped unhurt.

Fr. Saunders, who was about completely restored to health after a lengthy illness which had incapacitated him from his clerical duties for over a year, had been taking advantage of the pleasant weather with daily drives into the country, using his father's horse and carriage, the animal being of a quiet and unexcitable disposition. His companion on this occasion was Master McAvinnue, whose home is next to that of the family of the deceased. They had driven through Dracut and were on their way home when in Lakeview avenue, at a point opposite the water tank which furnishes the water supply for the Beaver Brook mills, the horse suddenly shied, and veered sharply to the right, taking Fr. Saunders over its head and throwing him into the air.

Fr. Saunders' head struck a telegraph pole with terrific force and he was picked up by Master McAvinnue in an unconscious condition. The horse continued running across a field until stopped by a fence. Several witnesses to the farmhand hastened to the aid of the injured clergyman and the ambulance was speedily summoned, taking the dying man to the home of his parents, 325 Mammoth road, where he passed away within an hour, but not before he had relieved the last rites of the church from Rev. Fr. Hegahn, who was called and rejoiced that the injured clergyman had regained consciousness.

Joseph McAvinnue was seen at his home last evening and he described the accident as follows:

"Fr. Saunders asked me to go for a ride with him this afternoon, and we left the house shortly before 5 o'clock. We drove up the old Nashua road to Canney's corner and down Lakeview avenue. We were passing the big field near the Collinsville mills when the horse shied at something—I don't know what. Fr. Saunders was driving with both hands at the time, and when the horse shied he let go of the reins with one hand to catch his hat, which came one hand blowing off. As he let go of the reins, the horse veered into the sidewalk so suddenly that we were both thrown out. The first thing I remember after that is sitting in the road and holding Fr. Saunders' head in my lap."

"Fr. Saunders was unconscious, and someone in the crowd that had collected telephoned to the ambulance from a nearby house. The ambulance came and Fr. Saunders was taken to his home in Mammoth road."

In the death of Fr. Saunders the archdiocese loses one of its most promising young clergymen. Ordained to the priesthood very early in life, he had worked with untiring zeal until his health declined forcing him reluctantly to abandon the arduous duties of the curacy and take the chaplaincy of the Working Boys' Home at Newton, where he labored with most laudable results until a complete breakdown made it necessary for him to retire to the home of his parents in this city where he bore his illness with great fortitude and resignation. Recently his health improved steadily and he was about to return to active duties when death intervened. A devout and zealous minister, a convincing preacher, and possessed of a charming personality, he was peculiarly fitted for his vocation. He had received his early education in St. Patrick's boys' school and upon graduating entered Mt. St. Mary's college, Emmitsburg, Md., where he received the degree of A. B. in 1894, and that of master of arts two years afterwards. His piety and scholarly attainments attracted the former college president, Fr. Rev. Edward P. Allen, bishop of Mobile, Ala., and he was offered adoption by that diocese. He pursued his course in theology at Mt. St. Mary's seminary, where he was ordained by Cardinal Gibbons, at the age of 22 years. Returning to his home in this city he celebrated his first mass at St. Patrick's church, and for a time was stationed there as curate. Subsequently he served at St. Peter's church, this city; St. Ann's, Somerville, Mass., and at Dorchester and Pepperell.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Saunders; two brothers, John of Boston and Thomas of this city; and two sisters, Miss Marie Saunders of this city and Mrs. William Burns of Detroit, Mich.

STORES CLOSE SATURDAY

But Will be Open Friday Evening

Patriots day, Saturday, will be observed by a general closing of their establishments on the part of the merchants of this city. For the purpose of not putting the people to an inconvenience through the closing of the stores on the big business day, in general, they have decided to remain open Friday evening, so that customers can make whatever purchases they intend making.

Read the "Specials" that they will offer Friday evening in the advertisements in today's and tomorrow's Sun.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Watch Found Through

Ad in the Sun

Mr. Moise Beaudouin of 148 High street, called at the Sun office Sunday afternoon and informed the latter that his wife had lost her gold watch Saturday evening, and said she was heart broken over it. He was advised to advertise the lost article in the classified advertisement columns of The Sun, being told it is the best advertising medium in the city, and finally made up his mind to insert a few lines.

Consequently the following notice was published in Monday night's issue of The Sun:

GOLD WATCH LOST, WITH MONOGRAM E. B. Saturday night, between High and First sts., by way of East Merrimack and Bridge sts. Return to 148 High st. and receive reward.

The result was that the same night, shortly after six o'clock, a woman, who gave the name of Mrs. David Scanlon, 55 Fourth street, called at Mr. Beaudouin's home and returned the lost watch. She said she found the timepiece in Bridge street Saturday evening. She waited until Monday afternoon and when her paper was delivered at home she scrutinized the lost and found column and finding the above notice, immediately returned the watch.

This is another good proof of how

LOWELL'S FIRE DEPARTMENT CHIEF

Not Physically Fit to be Continued in Office

After a careful examination of Edward S. Hosmer, chief of the Lowell fire department, City Physician Michael A. Tighe has addressed a communication to Commissioner Andrew S. Barrett, in which he states that Mr. Hosmer is no longer physically fit to continue as head of the fire department.

Dr. Tighe is of the opinion that, owing to the condition of Mr. Hosmer's right sacro-iliac synchondrosis, the thickening of the proximal end of the proximal phalanx and the distal end of the first metatarsus together with a state of chronic periostitis, that the chief must be a very sick man and that he had not dreamed that his condition was quite so serious as the letter indicated. The letter:

Lowell, Mass., April 10, 1913.
Mr. Andrew S. Barrett,
Commissioner of Fire Dept.

Dear Sir:—Mr. Edward S. Hosmer, chief of the fire department called upon me today. He complains of severe pain in the great toe of the right foot, and in the right sacro-iliac synchondrosis, which is the joint that brings together the pelvis and the spine.

The first is coincident with an injury received during the course of his duty, namely the falling thereon of plate glass. The second is also a result of an injury sustained five years ago at the Crowley mill fire, when one leg went into a hole.

Physical examination reveals a man of 75 years, whose pulse is 50 and of fairly high tension. His temperature is 98.6. On his head are several old scars, on the right lower leg there is a chronic inflammation of the proximal end of the first metatarsus of which came as a result of being struck by an axe. The proximal end of the first phalanx and the distal end of the first metatarsus are thickened, and extremely tender to touch. There is thickening, pain and some limitation of motion in the right sacro-iliac synchondrosis. The condition in both of these locations is known as a chronic periostitis, which is a chronic inflammation of the periosteum or the reproductive layer of the bone, and is compatible with the history of the injury which I have received.

It pays to advertise in The Sun, inasmuch as for the small amount of 50 cents Mr. Beaudouin recovered an article worth many dollars. This party is very thankful to Mrs. Scanlon and highly praises her honesty.

CHIEF E. S. HOSMER

Chief Hosmer had asked to be relieved the first day of May and the municipal council will take action at its next meeting. Action would have been taken at today's meeting but for the fact that Commissioner Donnelly was absent.

MITCHELL WINS IN 13TH

Democrat Victor in Three Cornered Fight

BOSTON, April 15.—John J. Mitchell, a democrat, was elected to congress from the 13th district yesterday after a three-cornered contest in which the tariff formed the chief subject of discussion.

Mitchell's plurality over Alfred H. Cutting, republican, was 4392. The vote for Norman H. White, the progressive candidate, was 5503.

Yesterday's special election was necessary on account of the choice of the former congressman for the district, John W. Weeks, to be United States senator. In the election last November Mr. Mitchell, who was successful yesterday, was defeated by Mr. Weeks by 2551 votes.

The total vote in the district was 25,000.

Mitchell (D) 13,131.

Cutting (R) 5503.

White (P) 5503.

The vote in the district last November for congress was:

Weeks (R) 16,934.

Mitchell (D) 13,583.

Fiel (P) 5553.

The tariff, and recently the Underwood bill, were practically the only topics in the triangular debates in the district. All three candidates and their supporters on the stump discussed this phase of national legislation most thoroughly. They placed their views on the different schedules before the shoe workers of Marlboro, the watch makers of Waltham, the textile operatives in the small towns and the home dwellers in the residential sections.

Mr. Mitchell had the support of the democratic state machine, which backed up his own organization perfected more than a year ago. The republican speakers, supported by a letter from Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, attacked the new bill, while the fight for Mr. Cutting was under the personal supervision of Senator Weeks. Mr. White stumped the entire district from the Back Bay Fens in this city to the Rhode Island line, visiting every Middlesex and Norfolk village and farm in the cities and towns, and was probably a more familiar personage to the voters than either of his opponents.

Mr. Mitchell carried all of the cities and a majority of the towns. His election evenly divides the Massachusetts delegation to the lower branch of congress.

John J. Mitchell was formerly a newspaperman and is now a lawyer. He has been a resident of Marlboro for many years. He served several terms in the lower branch of the legislature and one in the state senate. He is 35 years old.

CAMBRIDGE GIRL MISSING

Mary Sargent Disappears From Home

BOSTON, April 15.—Mary Sargent, 14 years old, of 10 Howard street, Cambridge, has been missing since last Saturday afternoon and has dropped out of sight from her family and friends as completely as if swallowed up by the earth. Every channel of possible information has been sought out by the police, but without result. Mary is the daughter of Mrs. Catherine Rogers, her mother having married a second time. She has been employed at a candy company on Main street, Cambridge, for the past year, and earned $5 per week. Saturday, as usual, she went home at 1 o'clock, did a few errands and then disappeared.

She was last seen about 3 o'clock in Central square, a short distance from a store where she had ordered and paid for a small quantity of coal. She had no money at her disposal and was dressed in her working clothes. Her pay day at the candy factory was yesterday, but no word was received from her, nor did any one call for her money. Her new hat and coat and suit, which she would ordinarily have worn Sunday, remains at her home untouched. She wore a plain blue skirt, with a middie waist of white, and felt hat.

Neither her mother nor stepfather can give any reason for her going away. Everything was pleasant at the house. The girl, an only child, never went out nights and had only a few girl friends. Her wages were always given to her mother, who bought all that the girl required and asked for. Mrs. Rogers is greatly worried over the child's disappearance and has begged the police to find her.

Last night Mrs. Rogers told of a young Italian who made Mary's acquaintance when the family lived on Windsor street, Cambridge. He called and asked to be allowed to marry her, saying "We marry young in my country." Mrs. Rogers says he was promptly put out of the house and had not called since. She did say, however, that she knew that he took a photograph of Mary and had a small locket picture made, which he still wears. He has been visited by the police and declares he knows nothing of her disappearance. Mrs. Rogers herself has called on him and he has told the same story to her.

Mary's girl friends at the factory can give no clue. Several of them say the last they saw of her was on Saturday at the close of work. She is of large stature and would easily pass for more than her true age.

FIREBUG IN SOMERVILLE

Several Blazes Started In Residences

BOSTON, April 15.—The Union Square district of Somerville seemed at the mercy of a fire maniac yesterday.

Within a few hours a quiet, middle-aged man, according to Fire Chief Rich, had strolled into the basements of five different tenements, gathered together piles of kindling, lighted them and wandered out again on an incendiary tour of the district.

Plainclothes men and uniformed officers patrolled the district in a frantic search for this man, while residents were trembling for the safety of their homes, and every stranger was looked on with suspicion.

That a serious conflagration did not break out in the crowded districts where the firebug was at work, according to Chief Rich, was due more to luck than to any failure in his efforts.

In each case he got his blaze well started.

Sometimes he met people belonging to the houses he meant to fire, but his respectable appearance and his perfect self-possession enabled him to escape suspicion till it was too late to catch him the chief said.

It is believed the same man started two fires in East Cambridge, near the Somerville line, earlier in the afternoon. Then he transferred his attentions to the Union Square region.

NON-SUPPORT CHARGE

Minister Gave Wife Certificate as Housekeeper

BOSTON, April 15.—Charged with non-support of the wife to whom he has been married for more than thirty-one years and from whom, after giving her a certificate of her ability as a housekeeper, he separated last December, the Rev. T. Arthur Whitaker, a retired Baptist minister and head of the Welfare union, appeared in the district court at Waltham yesterday.

The court scene was but another chapter added to the publicity cast upon the matrimonial affairs of the couple during the past five months.

Mrs. Whitaker, after a short trial last January, was found guilty of assault and battery upon Ella L. Weeks, proprietress of the boarding house in which her husband lived after their separation.

In court yesterday Whitaker pleaded for a continuance, contending that his counsel was not ready and unable to be present. With the consent of Mrs. Whitaker the case was put over until Monday.

BODY BECAME RIGID

Strange Death of Wareham Young Man

PASSED AWAY ONE HOUR AFTER BEING TREATED

Took Remedy Through Nose—Parts of His Body Will Be Sent to Harvard For Analysis

WAREHAM, April 16.—His body becoming rigid and death having followed within an hour after a doctor had administered an unknown remedy through the nose to Guy Craig, a 25-year-old street car conductor, Monday evening, Medical Examiner C. E. Morse yesterday afternoon notified, Dist. Atty. A. F. Barker of Brockton, and last night declared that parts of the body will be sent to Prof. Whitney of Harvard Medical school for chemical analysis.

Medical Examiner Morse took this action after completing an autopsy on the body yesterday afternoon. He declined to say what the autopsy revealed, declaring that he was not yet ready to make public his findings.

The identity of the physician who attended Craig, the nature of the "remedy" given him, or the names of persons who were in his home on Main street when he suddenly expired were not revealed. Dr. Morse said last night that neither the name of the physician nor the nature of the "remedy" are known by him.

Craig came here from New York six months ago as a conductor on the New Bedford and Onset street railway with his mother. They set up housekeeping in a Main street dwelling. Mrs. Craig was visiting in Melrose when her son's death occurred.

Early Monday evening Craig went to the car barn here and complained of being ill. He was told he could not be relieved of his "run," for there was no spare man to take his place. But when it became apparent that he was not in physical condition to work he was finally excused.

He started home and asked a friend to come to the house with him, said Medical Examiner Morse last night. "A doctor was called and gave Craig a remedy which he snuffed through his nose. An hour afterward he was dead."

On being summoned to the house Geo. E. Cornwall, an undertaker, refused to prepare the body for burial until consulting the medical examiner. Medical Examiner Morse ordered the body removed to the undertaker's rooms later, and yesterday afternoon performed an autopsy there.

It is expected Dist. Atty. Barker will come here today to start a searching investigation of all the circumstances surrounding the young man's last hours.

THE TALBOT CO. PRIZES

Offered Tenants for Best Kept Premises

The Talbot mills have offered a prize competition to their tenants in which prizes will be given to the tenants who succeed in having the best kept premises. Vines, window and porch boxes, flower and vegetable gardens. The contest will be open to all the tenants and, contrary to previous years, it will not be necessary to list as a contestant. As judges will visit the premises of all the company's houses several times during the year. The full number of prizes will not be awarded if the results do not meet the approval of the judges.

The prizes offered are as follows:

Class 1. Best kept premises, front and rear—Points to be considered: condition of lawn, paths and back yards, including freedom from weeds, and general neatness of grounds and exterior of house. Wherever there is a strip of sidewalk turf, it will be considered as part of the lawn. Five prizes, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.

Class 2. Vines—On houses, porches, arbors, trolley or other posts in front of premises. Five prizes, $4, $3, $2.50, $2, $1.

Class 3. Window and porch boxes—Five prizes, $4, $3, $2.50, $2, $1.

Class 4. Flower gardens—Design or arrangement will be considered, as well as variety and quantity of flowers. Five prizes, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.

Class 5. Vegetable gardens—Competition open only to children under 16 years of age. Suggestions and assistance from parents allowed. Points to be considered: Quality, quantity, and variety of vegetables and neatness of garden. Garden not to exceed 600 square feet in area. Five prizes, $4, $3, $2.50, $2, $1.

This improvement association, together with that of the Billerica Improvement association, has added much in making Billerica a desirable place to live in and with the co-operative efforts of the tenants the same success may be accomplished this year.

when a number of her school friends helped her to celebrate her birthday. Several games were played and among them one seemed to contribute more amusement than the donkey contest, when the young people in their blindfold condition tried to place the tail on the donkey, causing screams of laughter. Miss Bessie Farrell was the fortunate winner of the first prize, and the booby prize went to Miss Blanche Boyle.

After the rendering of vocal and instrumental music by the merry party a bountiful supper was served, including all the delicacies of the season, all of which were thoroughly enjoyed by the young people. Miss Johnson was presented with a large camera and outfit and many other beautiful gifts. The young folks continued their fun making until a late hour in the evening and before departing they wished Miss Johnson many happy returns of the day.

Talk on Ocean Greyhounds
James A. Burns of Boston was the speaker at the Y. W. C. A. last night, and he spoke at some length on the subject, "Ocean Greyhounds and Foreign Travel." The talk was illustrated by stereoscopic views and there were many members and friends present. The scenes shown included views of England, Ireland and Scotland as well as many other places.

No Hit, No Run Game
CHICAGO, April 16.—According to specials from Milwaukee, the first "no hit, no run" game of the American association of the season was pitched Monday against Louisville by Ralph Cutting of the Milwaukee team. The official score yesterday gave Cutting credit for such a game, Umpire Johnson and Connelly having agreed that a doubtful hit of Nicholson's bat should have been charged as an error.

OBLATE FATHERS WIN VERDICT

Lowell Case Tried at Cambridge —Davis and Sargent Co. Brought Suit

An interesting case was decided in the superior court at Cambridge yesterday by Judge Erwin. It was a claim of $4,000 for lumber brought by the Davis & Sargent Co. against the Oblate order of this city. The lumber was purchased for the building of the Sacred Heart parochial school in Moore street in 1909 by one Joseph A. Roy, who held the contract for building the said school for the Oblate Fathers. It appears that Mr. Roy as contractor failed to pay the lumber bill and failed to carry out the provisions of the contract so that Very Rev. Father Smith, O. M. I., was finally obliged to cancel the contract, and employ others to complete the work.

FORESTERS OF AMERICA

Lowell Delegates Will Attend Convention

The annual state convention of the Foresters of America will take place in Fitchburg, May 20, 21, and 22, and about 400 delegates from all over the state of Massachusetts will be present, including 15 from this city.

The party from this city will leave here on Monday, May 19, and will make their headquarters at the Johnson's hotel. On the same evening the Foresters will hold an open house in the A. O. U. hall where they will receive delegates from all over the state. This event is looked forward to with much interest by the members and it is believed that over 600 will be present.

Tuesday evening the class initiation will take place and there will also be a street parade in which the Lowell delegates will take part.

On Wednesday evening there will be a banquet at which Lieut. Governor David I. Walsh will be the principal speaker. Other speakers will be Judge E. B. O'Brien of Lynn, and T. M. Donnelly of Jersey City.

The delegates that will go to the convention from this city are as follows: George R. O'Neill, John McPadden, Richard J. Townsend, John W. Sharkey, Owen O'Neill, Thomas F. Quinn, John H. Connelley, Patrick F. Kennedy, Eugene F. Sullivan, John F. Connolly, Peter McGilly, Alphonse Valierand, Albert E. Sabourin, Emil C. Pearson, Dennis J. Murphy, N. J.

Monahan, James J. Gallagher and W. H. Safford.

During the past few months 1160 names have been added to the membership of the Foresters of America in Massachusetts, which is an excellent showing for the order.

An anniversary mass for the repose of the soul of the late Jeremiah Harrington will be celebrated Thursday morning of this week at 8 o'clock at St. Peter's church.

BURNING FOR FOUR DAYS

Cargo on Liner Karema Smouldering

BOSTON, April 14.—Eating its way into valuable consignments of skins, burlap and jute stored in its hold, a fire which was discovered aboard the Eckenau line steamer Karema when she was 400 miles from port was still burning last night.

The fire has been burning for nearly four days. Yesterday morning the steamer was towed from her berth at the Eastern railroad pier and the hold was removed after she had been anchored off the Commonwealth pier.

Smoke poured forth in huge clouds when the hatches were lifted. Although no flames were visible and the hold was immediately closed again. Steam is being used in an effort to smother the smoldering cargo. Should this prove ineffectual, fireboats will be called to the assistance of the ship's crew.

No damage is reported being done to the boat by the fire.

FIRST PICTURES OF CAPTURE OF GERMAN WAR AIRSHIP WHICH LANDED IN FRANCE

PARIS, April 16.—These are the army airship which came down on first actual pictures to reach this French territory. The incident caused country of the seizure of the German a big stir in Europe because of the strained relations existing between the two countries, particularly since Germany is planning to spend hundreds of millions in increasing its military resources. The big war bird came down on the French military grounds at Lunville, near the German border. The occupants were detained and examined. They were later released when they satisfied the French authorities that they were not spying, but had been forced to descend when blown out of their course, due to motor trouble. The French officers are said to have gained inside information as to the mechanism of the big Zeppelin, although the Germans later denied that this was so.

D. H. AINSWORTH IS LOCATED

Mrs. Eaton's First Husband Found —To be Questioned Relative to Rear Admiral's Death

BOSTON, April 15.—D. H. Ainsworth, first husband of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, who has been sought by the authorities investigating the death of her second husband, Rear Admiral Eaton, has been located.

One of the investigators, while declining to tell just where he is at the present time, announced that the authorities "can lay their hands on him at any time." That he may be in the far west was indicated by a chance remark of his oldest daughter, Mrs. June Ainsworth Keyes, who 24 hours ago told a neighbor that he was with her grandfather. The latter is believed to be in Nevada.

The discovery of Ainsworth by the authorities is thought to furnish a partial explanation for the re-opening of the inquiry into the admiral's death.

that was discussed. Rumors in and about Annapolis and surrounding towns were increasingly frequent that the matter may have been an insanity test for Mrs. Eaton, which is momentarily expected.

Attys. Morse and Geogan for the widow are becoming more and more confident of the strength of their case, and the latter yesterday made no effort to conceal his satisfaction at the way things are shaping up. Mr. Geogan will go to Plymouth on Friday or Saturday. It is expected, to see Mrs. Eaton. The latter is still busily engaged in making notes for the use of her lawyers.

The whereabouts of James Thom of Hingham, the aged admiral of June Keyes, was yesterday revealed to be in New York state. He is believed to be another person who will figure as a witness at the resumed inquest.

STEAM ROLLER FELL INTO CISTERN

Weight of Machine Caused the Ground to Give Way on Chapel Hill Today

An old cistern, formerly used by the fire department, was accidentally discovered yesterday by Mr. McLaughlin of the steam roller which is making some repairs on the Chapel street hill. About eleven o'clock this morning when the roller went over a spot at the junction of Union and Chapel streets the ground suddenly gave way and precipitated the driver onto the cistern. One of the rollersunk into the street and it was not discovered for some time just what had happened.

The steam roller was equipped with spiked rolls or picks as they are called, and these sink into the ground to the depth of some ten inches. They were just long enough to reach the top of the cistern, which is covered with granite slabs of more than a foot in thickness. The weight of the machine was sufficient to break two of the slabs and thus let the part of the roller that rested upon them down into the cistern. The receptacle that was revealed when the roller was once more on solid ground is one of the largest that the city ever had constructed. It is built of brick, with huge square pillars of the same material supporting the roof of granite. The cistern is eighteen feet in diameter and about sixteen feet deep with six feet of water in it at present. A large gas pipe runs directly through the center of it and is fortunate that this pipe was not struck by the falling slabs or in all probability an explosion would have occurred. The machine was extricated with little difficulty as the other two rolls still rested on solid ground.

Moving Picture Films Suffragettes March After Must be Packed Decision Against Man

IMPORTANT RULINGS BY INTER-STATE COMMERCE COMMISSION.

Nurses May Not Be Considered "Members of Families" of R. R. Employees Who Are Given Free Transportation.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Moving picture films are placed by the interstate commerce commission in the category of dangerous and inflammable articles, and shippers are hereafter required to pack them in "spark proof" metal cases enclosed in strong and tight wooden or fibre boxes or pales. Some other rulings of the commission today were equally important to the general public.

It was held unlawful for a telegraph company to pay to the firm or house in whose building a telegraph office is located any commission on its own business.

Nurses may not be considered as "members of the families" of railroad employees who are entitled under the law to free transportation.

Live Bits of Sport

Hughey Jennings has recommended another recruit for Manager Gray's roster. In a letter to the local manager, the Tigers' general manager says that William Garvey of Moose, Pa., can fill most any position on a team and, in the estimation of "Chas" will make a valuable addition to any minor league club. Garvey has never played in organized baseball circles but has made a great record in the semi-pro ranks.

Matty Baldwin took a severe setback last night when he met Jack Britton. Britton jabbed his head on throughout the bout. Alec McLean prophesied what would happen before his protegee broke with him. The reason that McLean and Baldwin are not still tied up is a little dispute over the same matter. McLean did not want Matty to back Britton unless the latter agreed to make 122 pounds instead of 123, but the Charlestown boxer refused to consider the two pounds difference as worthy of special attention. Perhaps now Baldwin will be ready to acknowledge that it is wise to have another head taken into consideration before tackling any of the good ones.

PRESIDENT NAVIN ATTACKS COBB

Detroit Magnate Says Discipline Not Money is the Important Question at Issue

DETROIT, Mich., April 16.—Discipline, not money, is the all-important question at issue in the dispute between the Detroit baseball club and its star player, Outfielder Cobb, who is now under suspension because he refused to accept the terms of the 1913 contract tendered him by President Navin. This decision was made by Mr. Navin today in a signed statement. It is said $2500 is the amount involved in the monetary dispute. The statement follows:

"The difference between Mr. Cobb and the Detroit Baseball club is not over a matter of money. There are fundamental principles involved, principles of discipline recognized in all walks of life.

"It is conceded by everybody that Mr. Cobb is the best ball player in the world. And Mr. Cobb is also the best paid ball player in the world. But this is not the issue.

"Mr. Cobb did not make baseball; baseball made him. A player cannot be bigger than the game which creates him. To give in to Mr. Cobb now in his present attitude would be to concede that he is greater than the game itself for he has set all its laws at defiance.

"Mr. Cobb instead of reporting for spring practice and giving the club the benefit of his knowledge and his play, organized a barn storming team and went through the south starring himself with daily ultimatums to the club. If Mr. Cobb can persistently defy the laws of the game what effect will he have on the other players and where will his 'I am above the law' theory end? We may as well turn the club over to him and eventually the league.

"Mr. Cobb doesn't like a room a hotel clerk gives him; he quits the club for a week. If he doesn't like what the club has done to him he is again out of the game. He quit the game when we were fighting for a pennant and publicly stated that he would not play with his comrades in left field. D. Jones, on account of some misunderstanding with that player. If he doesn't feel like practicing he stays away from the park. He has grown to believe that his greatness precludes his being a subject to club discipline. I think Mr. Cobb eventually will recognize his fault—until he does there can be no understanding between us.

"He demands $15,000 for his services and then he goes to the other end of the country to fire ultimatums at me through the public press, proceeding that no representative of the Detroit club has been 'sent' to talk business with him. Mr. Cobb is an employee of the Detroit Baseball club, he knows where the office is.

"In the past I have patiently put up with a great deal from Cobb. It has now reached a point where there must be a showdown."

TO ELECT D.A.R. OFFICERS

Delegates to Continental Congress in Session

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Delegates to the continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution were ready for the election to office when they reassembled today in continental hall. Three women had been nominated last night for the leadership—the "regular" candidate, supported by the administration, Mrs. W. C. Bryan of Memphis, Tenn.

There are a number of candidates for vice president general. Although not so important, friends of the candidates early disclosed their interest and indulged in active campaigning. The candidates are Mrs. John C. Ames, Birmingham, Mrs. Thomas Day, Tennessee; Mrs. Benjamin Gray Jr., Missouri; Miss Thomas Kite, Ohio; Miss Allen P. Parley, Pennsylvania; Mrs. John Dinwiddie, Indiana; Mrs. Harriet L. Lake, Iowa; Mrs. John Van Landingham, No. Carolina; Mrs. Rhett Goode, Alabama; Mrs. John Swift, California; and Mrs. R. H. Cunningham, Kentucky.

The adherents of Mrs. Storey placed in the field also Miss Wilcox of Washington, Mrs. J. W. Iglehart of Maryland and Miss Sophie Waples of Delaware. The fight for the second place on the ticket promises to be a spirited one. The dangers of the dark horses in the race for president general seemingly dissipated yesterday and it was generally acknowledged that the fight lay between the three nominees.

HARRY SHEPARD

IS LOOKING FOR HIS MOTHER AND BROTHER

He Left Them in This City Years Ago and Since Then He Has Travelled All Over the World

The following letter was addressed to His Honor, the Mayor:

Amesbury, Mass., April 13, 1913.

Dear Sir: Am writing you a few lines to ask you if you can help me to find my mother and brother whom I have not seen since I was twelve years old, when I left them in Lowell, Mass. I am now in Amesbury, Mass. I have just got back to Mass. now. I have been travelling all over the world. I married in England and am now living in Amesbury, Mass. I would like very much to ascertain where my mother and brother are at the present time. I was brought up in a home in Amesbury, but was taken out at the age of nine years. My brother's name was William Shepard, and my mother's name was Jessie Shepard. If you could do anything towards helping me in locating them I would be very much obliged to you. It seems to me that they would glad to see one whom they have not seen for years and I know they would like to know where I am, but as I have been seeking around the world they would not have much chance of finding me.

Hope that you will do all you can to assist me in locating them. I remain, respectfully yours,

Harry W. Shepard,
8 Lynnwood Place.

MANHATTANS HELD LADIES NIGHT PRESENT BASE RUNNERS FASTER

Enjoyable Affair in the Club Rooms Last Evening

PRES. CHARLES L. CROWLEY

The rooms of the Manhattan social club in Gorham street, were the scene last evening of a most enjoyable "Ladies night." A large number attended and all assisted in making the affair a pleasant one. The festivities opened with an address of welcome by President Charles L. Crowley. He said that the affair was the first of similar functions to be conducted by the club and he hoped that the remaining events will be as successful as the initial endeavor of the members. He also spoke of the coming season's ball to be conducted under the club's auspices in Associate hall on Thursday evening, May 1st. He said that at the present time indications pointed to a banner event. Two hundred have signified their intentions of participating in the parade that will precede the event in the hall. He also stated that the prizes for the ball had been selected. They include ladies and gentlemen's watches. These were on exhibition last night.

The president also presided during the evening and introduced the speakers and other contributors. The musical program was an excellent one and included selections, Manhattan orchestra; solo, James Shugrue; solo, Jos. Chapelle; solo, Miss Kennedy; solo, Fred Lindsay; whistling solo, Win. Carr; Charles Sadler, accompanist solo, Steve Reynolds; solo, Chas. Sadler; solo, Babe Rogers; solo, Miss Roche; violin solo, John McQuade; solo, Katherine Hickey; solo, Mary Crowley; recitation, John Frawley; solo, Jennie Spencer; solo, Mrs. Charles

STRIKE RIOTS IN MILFORD TODAY

Officers and Strikers Injured—
Trouble Caused by Attempt to Enforce General Strike

MILFORD, April 16.—An attempt to enforce the order of the I. W. W. leaders for a general strike in all the factories in Milford resulted in serious rioting today. Two police officers and two strikers were injured but not seriously.

State Officer William Murray and Fred Lewis, a Worcester policeman, were badly cut about the face and head by stones and a physician was summoned to attend two strikers who had been clubbed by the police.

Two hundred strikers, nearly all of them foreign speaking people, and nearly half of whom were women, gathered near the elastic webbing factory of William Apworth & Sons and attempted forcibly to prevent other employees from working. The several officials stationed at the factory were unable to handle the crowd and after a melee in which clubs were used, stones thrown, clothing torn and hair pulled the police telephoned for assistance. Captain Proctor of the state police and a squad of officers soon arrived from Hopedale and found the riot still in progress.

Vigorous Use of Clubs

The combined police forces rushed the crowd and by the vigorous use of clubs managed to open a passage through which the loyal employees were able to enter the factory. Several other clashes between the police and strikers occurred within the next two hours. Some of the women among the strikers claimed that they had been clubbed by the officers. Patrick Morahan, a young woman said to be high in the councils of the Industrial Workers, was rushing through the crowd sobbing and crying out that she had been beaten by an officer. The arrival of another detachment composed of Metropolitan police, deputy sheriffs and Milford and

According to Hugh Jennings, Manager of the Tigers

It is the opinion of Hugh Jennings, manager of the Detroit team, that the base runners of today are, for the most part, far inferior to the base runners of the time when McGraw, Keeler, Kelley, Hamilton and Long were in the game.

"Baseball, as a game, has made wonderful strides in the past 10 or 20 years," says Hugh, "but the player of today—I am speaking in general terms—is far inferior to the player of yesterday when base running is considered. There are faster men—that is, more faster—but there are not nearly so many good base runners for the reason that players of today do not extend themselves along this line.

"The good base runners of the two major leagues can be counted on your fingers—almost on the fingers of one hand. Consider Cobb, Milan, Bescher, Bush and one or two others, perhaps, and the remaining players in the big Worcester patrolmen enabled the authorities to disperse the crowd. Several men sought refuge in a clump of woods near the factory and stoned the pursuing officers. Murray and Lewis were hurt in the encounter.

Kidney Remedy That Acts Like Magic

"I have been a terrible sufferer for a number of years with kidney and liver trouble, also nervous prostration and health generally poor, constipation entirely run down until life became a burden. I tried physicians and every available remedy but found no relief. Was induced to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial, which acted like magic, and am happy to say that I believe I am entirely cured and now as good a man as ever.

I believe it my duty to make this public statement that I may help others who may be suffering from the same trouble. Swamp-Root is without question the greatest remedy in the world. Anyone in doubt of this statement or the authenticity can address me as below.

Yours very truly,

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do For You

Send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, please mention The Lowell Sun. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

HUGH JENNINGS

leagues are let out. Ten or twenty years ago there were lots of men who were good on the paths.

"It is my opinion that baseball will show its greatest improvement in future years, as men develop as base stealers. Stealing bases is not a natural ability. It is acquired. Up to a year or so ago, Clyde Milan of the Washington team was an ordinary man on the paths, but Milan saw the advantage of cultivating his speed and learning when to take chances. Now he is one of the best base runners in the game.

"I do not consider Eddie Collins an exceptional or a very dangerous man when it comes to running bases. Collins has not developed himself sufficiently in the fadeaway slide, and until he gets that proper he will not cause opposing teams any undue alarm when he gets on the sacks.

"I do not believe that there is much chance for improvement along other lines. It is hardly possible that there will ever be a player the superior of Cobb. In fact, if Cobb's equal is found it will be an exception. Cobb is without a weakness as a player, and this is something that cannot be said of any other player in the game. Ty, however, had shortcomings when he broke into baseball, but he had sense enough to realize them and willingness enough to work to overcome them. That is why he is the greatest player.

"Every baseball follower in the country knows how, a few years ago, Cobb was a cinch for Doc White, the Chicago pitcher. White knew Cobb had a weakness at the bat, and White pressed on it with the greatest success as well as did White, and after months of faithful hitting against a certain kind of pitched ball Cobb overcame his weakness, and White can "trick" Cobb no more.

"When other players begin to realize their faults and try faithfully to overcome them, then, and then only, will baseball be advanced."

McFarland Champion Minkus Title

What's that? You never heard of such a thing as a champion without a crown? Well, rest your optics on Tackey McFarland and then dwell on his performance and you'll have the pleasure to long denied you. Tackey is the champion boxer of the world. Even Dan Morgan, manager of Jack Britton, admits it now, and when Morgan makes an admission of the sort the evidence is all in.

But, although Packey is the greatest ever, as yet he is neither fish, flesh nor fool as a title holder. He's too big to be strong at the lightweight limit, and he fears to tackle some of the big fellows who train down to the welter or 145 pound limit.

He's a man without a class. Just now the proper move for Tackey is to insist on the recognition of the old 142 pound maximum in the welter division and then go after that ringside honor.

He could get it, for the only man able to do the weight legitimately is Ray Bronson, and Packey seems to have it on Ray by a mile. McFarland has only to grab for this honor to win it. But until he does he may not claim it—not with the world's champion title claimer, Bronson, still unbeaten by him.

FIGHT TO PUT DUTY ON COTTON

Reps. Thacher and Webb Lead House Battle—Caucus Sticks to Plans

WASHINGTON, April 15.—A fight for higher duties on cotton goods was made in the house democratic caucus yesterday by Representative Thacher of the New Bedford district. He had much cooperation, but his three reasons, as well as one by Representative Webb of North Carolina, were voted down. They will carry their fight to the senate, where Mr. Thacher has already been in consultation with Senator Hollis of New Hampshire.

The caucus was not favorable for an increase in duties by the house. Chairman Underwood, who was ill Monday in bed, came out yesterday and delivered one of the most stirring speeches the house democrats ever heard him make. He defended the present duties as adequate, but right on the heels of the discussion, which lasted two hours, came reports from the election in the 13th Massachusetts congressional district. That district has been in the eyes of many congressmen of recent days, because of a possibility that might elect a republican by a large vote and thus indicate repudiation of the Underwood bill.

Figures for seven towns in the district were read to the democratic caucus. As these showed a tremendous gain for Mitchell and apparently established his election, the house democrats were jubilant. They proclaimed the result an endorsement of the Underwood bill. Word was also carried around the capital that Senator Lodge, hearing these preliminary returns, had gone home in discouragement.

Give Up Fight in House

Massachusetts democrats made the best fight they could under the circumstances. Representative Thacher told the caucus that mills in his district running on goods of from 60 to 100 threads and over could not continue on that class of work under the proposed tariff. He was fearful they would have to go on coarser goods and undertake to compete with southern mills.

Representatives Phelan of Lynn and Reed of New Hampshire related the arguments of Mr. Thacher. Representative Webb of North Carolina also argued for higher duties, asserting that the most costly yarns should carry more duties than the less expensive ones.

The vote yesterday ends the contest in the house for higher duties on cottons. New England representatives will probably deliver some speeches on the subject, but any hope of getting the duties increased now rests with the senate.

Democratic representatives from all sections are being besieged in letter and by personal representatives of insurance companies protesting against their inclusion as taxable organizations under the corporation tax provision of the tariff bill now under consideration before the house democratic caucus.

Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee, author of the income tax feature said yesterday that his desk was filled with mail from insurance companies, protesting that they are not profit making organizations. The question may be considered in caucus, but the democratic leaders declare that insurance organizations were

JEWETT WON HIS FIGHT

On Amendment to the Military Drill Bill

CIGARET BILL LAUGHED OUT OF HOUSE

Governor Vetoes Common Drinking Cup Bill as Likely to Deprive People of Water

Rep. Victor F. Jewett has won out in his fight on the militia drill bill. The bill introduced this year provided that one-half of the company should be present at drill in order to obtain the pay for attendance allowed by the commonwealth. This was thought too low since the present law requires 75 per cent. of the total strength enrolled to be present at a drill to secure the compensation.

Rep. Jewett in the house tried to save the bill by making the number 50 per cent., but his amendment was turned down. The bill went to the senate and that body boosted up the number 55 per cent. instead of 50 per cent. Now the amendment, having come back to the house, has been accepted in concurrence with the senate and Mr. Jewett wins his point in the reduction agreed to.

In the senate today the Spanish war veterans' bill was killed on a voice vote without a word of debate. It had been passed by the house.

The committee on ways and means reported in the house this afternoon a new bill for the state house extension, creating a commission of three to proceed to build lateral wings on the front of the building with power to expend not more than $1,000,000.

The cigarette bill which would have permitted the arrest of boys and juveniles smoking cigarettes was laughed out of the house and killed after a facetious amendment making the age limit seven years.

A bill prohibiting the use of common drinking cups in public places and in all industrial establishments where more than 25 persons are employed, was voted by Gov. Foss today.

The governor said that a previous act of the legislature authorized the state board of health to prohibit the providing of common drinking cups in public places, and he thought that the public health was sufficiently safeguarded. He believed that to deprive persons of water because of the absence of public drinking cups would be more detrimental to public health than the danger of infection.

MGR. O'CALLAGHAN'S WILL

Policy of $1000 Goes to Poor People

BOSTON, April 15.—Of the many kind acts of the late Mgr. Denis O'Callaghan, for nearly fifty years rector of St. Augustine's church, South Boston, none gave a better and truer insight into the character of the prelate than his last testament, which was filed at the Suffolk registry of probate yesterday. His entire estate was appraised at but $3800.

The legate of many wealthy Catholics and sagacious in business matters, it was supposed by many that he had accumulated a fortune, but the size of his estate indicates that he gave away practically all he ever received.

For years Mgr. O'Callaghan contributed to the maintenance of many poor families, shared the expense of burial of unfortunate persons, and in many other ways opened his purse strings in aiding parishioners.

He gave generously to liquidate the expense of building St. Augustine's church, one of the most beautiful edifices in Boston, and the sisters' convent, a task and defrayed the greater part of the expense of building St. Augustine's parochial school. In addition to this he built St. Monica's church, Dorchester street, and helped the Lithuanian and Polish residents in erecting churches of their own.

Of Mgr. O'Callaghan's estate, $1000 was from the proceeds of a life insurance policy in the Catholic Order of Foresters, and he left it to the poor people of his parish. He gave $500 each to St. Charles college of Howard county, Maryland, and St. Mary's seminary in Baltimore. The Home for Destitute Catholics, Chatham street, Boston, and St. Mary's Infant Asylum, Dorchester, get $200 each under the will. To the Sulpician Novitiate of St. Austin at Washington, D. C., he gave $700.

To St. Augustine's parish, over which he had charge for so many years, he gave his chalice of gold, and to the parochial school on E street he left his piano. After the sisters in charge of this school have selected such volumes as are needed for the school, and his relatives have taken the books they wish to keep as personal mementoes of him, the rest of his books are given to the parish library.

This will was made on Feb. 24, 1902. William J. Doogue is named as executor.

WEAKENED BY TRAINS

Wadsworth House, Harvard, May Collapse

CAMBRIDGE, April 15.—Fears are felt for the safety of the Wadsworth house, the most historical of all the Harvard university buildings. It was stated today that this old wooden mansion has been weakened by the jar of subway trains damaging the interior of the house.

The mansion was erected in 1775 for occupancy by the president of the college. It now serves as a student dormitory.

PISTOL FIGHT IN STREET

Roland Shugart Killed and Haynes Moore Fatally Wounded at Birmingham, Ala.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 15.—Roland Shugart, a lawyer, was killed and Haynes Moore, a student, was fatally wounded in a pistol fight on a street in the northern part of the city early yesterday.

Bad feeling between the two men originated when Shugart and his wife, who was Moore's sister, parted. Each man drew a pistol and began firing when they met on the street.

LOT OF EXCITEMENT

Caused by Contest Over a Little Girl

"Mama, mama, don't let me go," was the pitiful appeal of little Marianna Emond, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emond, who was pulled away from her mother by her uncle, who attempted to take the child with him. Fortunately there was a robust woman in the immediate vicinity, who arrived in the nick of time, grasped the little girl from the man's hands and took her into her own home, locking the door after her. This happened in Alken avenue, West Centralville, Monday evening, and the police were finally forced to accompany the mother and her child to the electric cars on their way to their home in Lawrence.

Mrs. Emond is a former resident of this city and now makes her home at the corner of Lowell and Marginal streets, Lawrence. According to the story she related to the writer on Tuesday evening, she has not been living with her husband since last November. When the two parted, Mrs. Emond went to Lawrence with her boy and left the daughter in the care of the mother-in-law, who resides in Ludlum street, this city. The mother often visited her daughter in this city and all went well. A few days ago the boys took sick in Lawrence and inasmuch as it was feared he would not recover, Mrs. Emond decided to come to Lowell after her little girl in order that she may see her brother before he passed away. She came to Lowell accompanied by Mrs. Mae Labelle, also of Lawrence. The two repaired to the home of the mother-in-law in Ludlum street, but there it was claimed they were not allowed to take the girl along with them. Mrs. Emond told the writer she then went to the police station and was accompanied to the house of her mother-in-law by an officer, and took possession of her child. On her way to the electric car she met her husband's brother, who attempted to take the little girl away from her, wishing to keep the little one with relatives in this city.

The child cried and pleaded with her mother not to leave her, but the mother was powerless. Just as the man was about getting away with the little girl, Mrs. Emond Arvialis, a stalwart woman living at 41 Alken street, heard the child's pleading and grabbing the man by the shoulder tossed him into the street and took the child into her home. Immediately a large crowd assembled near the house, and the mother-in-law made fruitless attempts to enter, but finally went away.

Patrolman Frank Sullivan, who patrols that beat, was notified of the trouble and in a few minutes was at the scene of activities. He escorted the mother and child to Lakeview avenue, where a car was boarded, and the party returned to Lawrence. The young woman in the struggle with the man was slightly injured about the left arm. She said she will keep her daughter with her in the future and it is safe to say she will not return to this city soon. This affair created considerable excitement but no harm was done and on both sides the welfare of the little girl was the only motive.

Measles Closes School

BOSTON, April 15.—The Reading board of health, at a special meeting last evening, ordered the Prospect street school closed indefinitely, owing to the discovery of 20 cases of measles among its pupils, who are of the first and second grades.

There are now 75 known cases of measles in the town, 15 having been reported since Saturday night, when the board ordered the Union street school closed.

These schools are on opposite sides of the town, and the presence of measles in both of them indicates that the epidemic is general.

Dr. Carroll Will Visit Lynn to Study This Method—Italian Wants Friedmann Treatment

Ways and means of taking active participation in the crusade against tuberculosis formed the subject matter for the principal discussions which took place during the meeting of the Lowell board of health yesterday afternoon. At this session Dr. Thomas Carroll called the attention of the board to the work of Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann, the famous German serum specialist. It seemed to be the general opinion of the board that at the present time it would not be expedient to take steps toward inducing the great specialist to visit this city. Dr. Carroll has been approached by a young Italian, who is a victim of tuberculosis and who desired a recommendation to Dr. Friedmann, who is now in Providence. R. I. Dr. Carroll, however, informed the lad that he could not give him a recommendation, and advised him to get word to Governor Rhodes through Mayor O'Donnell. An attempt will be made to aid the young man in this way for he expressed himself as ready to incur any risk which might accompany the treatment.

In regard to the fight against the White Plague, Dr. Carroll also offered another suggestion that, if carried out, would doubtless bring beneficial results. This was to follow a course similar to that pursued in the theatres of Lynn and other cities. One-half hour of each performance is devoted to a lecture on the sources of the disease and of the methods of prevention and cure. Illustrated with stereoscopic views. A different physician speaks in the theatres each day and the views also are changed daily. Great interest has been aroused by this method. Dr. Carroll expressed his intention of visiting the city of Lynn and studying the workings of this system. He will make a report later. He was given permission to represent the local board. He also mentioned the exhibits of the state board in the Lawrence public library. On request of Miss M. A. Gage, a certificate stating that the fee which her company collects is the right kind, and is issued in compliance with the state laws, was issued by the board. C. M. Young was given permission to erect a stable for the accommodation of 14 horses in Newbury street, and a Mr. Rodrigue was granted a permit to erect a stable for three horses at 75 Bolton street. About 29 garages have been granted.

erick A. Chase, was, in part, as follows:

The treasurer's report of receipts and expenditures of the Lowell Art association is made up for the year ending April 15, 1912, the date of this annual meeting. Mr. Safford's report, made at the last meeting, showed unpaid bills amounting to $155.82. Mr. Marden remitted his bill of $30 for money advanced, so that the amount of unpaid bills was $125.82, or $227.13 more than the cash on hand.

After the business, Mr. E. H. Clement of Boston was introduced, and read an interesting paper on "Art With a Large A." True art, he said, is the only true democracy, for the artist must stand absolutely on his merit. What we need, to foster an American school of art, is the cultivation of sensibility to and appreciation of the beautiful in the commonplace things of our everyday life. The exhibition of paintings by American artists, which is now open, was much admired. It will continue for three weeks. Refreshments were served in the dining room, the ladies who poured being Mrs. T. G. McGannon and Mrs. A. L. Tyler.

The two stores of Cook, Taylor and company, one on Central street and the other on Merrimack street, will be open Friday night to give the public an opportunity to make their purchases for Saturday. See their advertisement in this issue.

POPE PIUS DYING

CITY OF LOWELL
LOSES LAW SUITVerdict of $1500 for the Plaintiffs in Case of Goulet vs.
City

After deliberating all night the jury right mind guard and saw him fall this morning reported a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs in the case of Goulet vs. City of Lowell, and same vs. Same, an action for alleged injuries sustained by Katherine Goulet by falling on a defective sidewalk in Salem street in December, 1910. The amount awarded the plaintiffs was $1500. This case was given to the jury yesterday, and it was only this morning that a decision was reached.

The case of Smart vs. Dana, an action of tort for alleged personal injuries by Joseph Smart, a boy, who claims he was struck and injured by the defendant's automobile in Gorham street, which was started in superior court on Monday, was resumed this morning.

Among the witnesses heard for the defense today were Mr. Dana, Mrs. Dana, Mrs. Charles Harris and Mrs. Chester Smith.

Mrs. Harris testified that she was in the automobile when the accident occurred and was sitting on the right side of the rear seat of the car. She said she was looking to the right side of the street when she saw the boy who was injured jump from the sidewalk into the path of the ongoing automobile, which at that time was being driven at a moderate rate of speed. She also testified she saw the boy strike the right mind guard and saw him fall backward. This she said was between the hours of 1:30 and 2 p. m.

Mrs. Chester Smith was then called to the witness stand and she testified that at the time of the accident the automobile was being driven very slowly. Mr. Dana was at the wheel and seated next to him in the front seat was Mrs. Dana. Witness and Mrs. Harris occupied the rear seat. Inasmuch as she was seated on the left side of the car, witness said she did not see the accident.

Will Go to Jury Tomorrow

The case of Smart vs. Dana which was being tried in superior court, came to a close this afternoon and arguments were started. The case may be given to the jury in the morning.

In the early part of the afternoon a jury was made up for the case of Bennett vs. City of Lowell. This is a case where the plaintiffs, George E. Bennett and Edwin H. Bennett, both residents of "Fairfax" petition for the recovery of land damages caused by the construction of the School street grade crossing.

Melvin G. Rogers appeared for the plaintiffs and J. Joseph Hennessey for the city.

WORST IS FEARED

Lawyer Who Drew Up Will of the Late
Pope Leo Summoned to Vatican
—End ApproachingROME, April 15.—1:10 p. m.—The pope was disturbed more than usual by his cough this morning. It has become much more troublesome.

The temperature of the pope varied frequently during the forenoon. Dr. Amici visited him again just before noon when he found an almost imperceptible rise had taken place since early morning.

4:35 p. m.—The pope had an alarming coughing spell this afternoon, almost causing suffocation. The attack was followed by such exhaustion that those attending the pontiff feared the worst.

5:45 p. m.—Subsequent to the attack of coughing the pope had a period of depression but after a rest he appeared relieved. At this hour his condition is considered to be stationary.

Pope Near Death
ROME, Wednesday, April 16.—All Rome is now convinced that the pope is very near death.

The grave character of the latest bulletins, the reappearance of all the ominous symptoms in still more aggravated form and the hurried preparations for the inevitable that are being made, all indicate that the end is approaching.

That the pope is aware of his desperate condition is proved by the admission of one vatican prelate. Distinguishing himself of all attempts at concealment, he declared the most disquieting fact, aside from the steady progress of the disease, was that the holy father seemed unable to shake off his extreme melancholy and depression.

Lawyer Summoned
10:35 a. m.—The lawyer Patriarca, who represents the Holy See, was summoned to the vatican this morning. The same lawyer drew up the last testament of Pope Leo XIII. and the inference is that he has been asked to do the same for Pope Pius X.

Signor Patriarca was summoned after Professor Marchisava, the pope's physician, had a long conference with Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state. Early in the morning the pope's sisters entered the vatican and were received by Mgr. Parolin, the pope's nephew, who held them waiting in an ante-chamber until the doctors had ended their visit. They then entered the pope's chamber. Later they repaired to an adjoining chapel, where they heard two masses celebrated, one by Mgr. Bressan and the other by Mgr. Parolin.

Private but reliable information as to the pope's condition this morning is to the effect that while he is again without fever today he is weaker than at this time yesterday.

An Italian military dirigible balloon flew over St. Peter's and the vatican today and as it did so the occupants waved the Italian flag as an act of homage to the aged pontiff.

$75,000 LOAN ORDER
FOR WATER MAINSPresented to Municipal Council
—$75,000 Paving Order Put
Over—Other News

At a meeting of the municipal council held this forenoon a date was set for a hearing on a $75,000 loan order for the extension of water mains in this city. Action on the $75,000 loan order for street paving was put over. Mayor O'Donnell called to order at 11:35. Commissioner Donnelly was absent on account of sickness.

Several petitions for pole locations, wire attachments, etc., were properly referred.

Petitions for street improvements, abatements of sewer assessments and new sewers were referred to the commissioner of streets and highways.

Claims for land damages were referred to the city solicitor.

The petition of Maurice Mulcahy to maintain a lunch cart at the corner of Jackson and Central streets, was granted as was also the petition of Mrs. Sarah Burns for the maintenance of a lunch cart at the corner of Bridge and Fage streets.

Because of the illness of Mr. Donnelly no action was taken on the $75,000 loan order for street paving.

Hearings on a number of pole locations were set for April 22, at 2 o'clock p. m.

$75,000 Loan Order

An order providing for the extension of water mains, a loan order for $75,000 to be paid in 20 years, was submitted by Alderman Barrett and read by the mayor.

The order provides for a 24-inch main from the present force main in West Sixth street, then to continue northwesterly along West Sixth street to Lakeview avenue; thence southwesterly across Merrimack river to a point to be determined by the engineer; across the Merrimack river to Tucker street at a point to be determined by the engineer; thence southwesterly to corner of Hall and Cabot streets to connect there with present 20-inch main extension from the present terminus at or about Cross street through Adams street to Liberty square, through Liberty square to corner of Cushing street.

Third: Laying 16-inch main to be as follows: From present terminus of 16-inch main at corner of Church and Central streets in a southwesterly direction, through Appleton street, to Thordike street, across Thordike street, along Chelmsford street, crossing the railroad to corner of Westford street, through Westford street to Howard street.

The interest and principal payments will be made from the receipts of this water department and not from the tax levy. A hearing on the order will be held April 23. Mr. Brown was opposed to the order.

On the petition of Charles Kilpatrick and others for a sewer through Fairfax and Fleming streets it was voted to give a hearing on April 27, at 2 p. m.

400,000 ON STRIKE IN BELGIUM

Ranks of Strikers Increased—Lack of Fuel Causes Alarm—More Plants May Close

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 15.—In a statement issued today by the ministry of the interior it is said that 257,000 men have joined the national political strike of the Belgian workers, who have chosen this means of forcing the grant of manhood suffrage in Belgium and the abolition of the system by which wealthy citizens are given plural-voting power. The socialist leaders on the other hand assert that the total number of strikers is over 400,000. Reports from various parts of the provinces show that in some places the movement has been highly successful while in others, more especially the districts under the control of the Catholic Workmen's unions, the men appear to be lukewarm in their sympathy.

No Violence Reported

Violence has been the exception since the order to quit work was given on Monday, only a few cases of destruction of property or interference with non-strikers having occurred.

It is stated today that the Belgian government finds itself with a considerably smaller supply of coal to run the state railroads than was supposed, and this is likely to be exhausted this week thus crippling transport facilities.

Lack of Fuel Causes Alarm

Lack of fuel also, it is said, will cause the stoppage of many electric and gas plants and prevent many thousands of non-strikers from working.

Emile Vandervelde, the socialist leader, after an automobile tour of the provinces of Haynaut and Namur, said: "Our comrades make splendid sacrifices for a just cause. All business is stagnated throughout the industrial district. Of the 205,000 workmen in the two provinces 163,000 are striking."

The commission will be organized at once and will have the honor of the state to make a complete study of the prison system of the state and report to the governor.

ST. MICHAEL'S GUILD

Held Enjoyable Party at New Guild Rooms Last Evening—List of the Winners

At the new guild rooms of St. Michael's church last evening a very successful whist party was held under the auspices of the guild, of which Rev. Francis Mullin is spiritual director. Miss Nellie P. Riley was in charge of the arrangements and was ably assisted by Misses May Fitzgerald, Margaret Riley, Sarah Smith, Jennie Riley, Cora McGowan, Fanny Fitzgerald, Anna Riley, Annie Quinn, Nellie Monahan, Margaret McCusker, Katherine Dolan, Nellie Lyman and Mrs. William Noonan. A fine concert was given, consisting of vocal selections by Misses Florence McNamara, Ruth Balph, Mary Carroll and Mr. Andrew Doyle. Little May Casey made the hit of the evening in her recitation. Miss Ruth Mower was accompanist.

The prizes were won by the following: Ladies' first prize, Miss Lilla McKenna; second, Miss Rose Durand; third, Miss Mabel Quinn; fourth, Miss Nellie Hart. Gentlemen's first prize, Mr. Donat Champagne; second, Mr. Clarence Noyes; third, Mr. Charles Hillier; fourth, Mr. Charles Reynolds.

A Comfortable and Happy Trip to California, in Good Company and at Very Small Cost

A trip to California with a select party in charge of a well informed conductor who goes all the way through and is paid for his ability to relieve you of care and make you feel at home.

A wonderfully interesting trip, going through Colorado and Salt Lake City. A thousand wonders to see.

A wonderfully comfortable trip made in a Pullman Tourist Sleeping car. Clean and warm, and the price of all so small that most anybody can go.

Just call or write and let me tell you all about the Personally Conducted, low fare parties to California that have helped to make the "Burlington Route" service famous.

Have You Catarrh?

Unless Properly Treated With Hyomel This Disease May Become Serious

Catarrh troubles are far more dangerous than they seem at first thought. If you have catarrh, usually indicated by sniffling, stopped up head, droppings in throat and morning choking, there is an irritated state of the mucous membrane which affords an ideal lodgment and culture medium for disease germs, especially those of consumption.

Do not allow the dangerous germs which may be breathed into the throat and lungs to begin their work of destruction.

The easiest, simplest, quickest, surest and cheapest way to check catarrh is by the direct method, breathing Hyomel. This wonderful medicated air treatment does not drug and derange the stomach, but is breathed in through the Hyomel inhaler, directly following and destroying all disease germs that may have been inhaled, and healing and vitalizing the tissues of the throat, nose and lungs so as to render catarrh and all other germ infections no longer possible.

The unusual way in which Hyomel is sold by druggists is the best evidence of confidence in the treatment and should dispel all doubts as to its curative properties. They are authorized to refund the purchase price to anyone whom Hyomel fails to benefit so you do not risk a cent in testing its healing virtues. A complete outfit costs but $1.00. Extra bottles of liquid if later needed, 50 cents.

Sold by Carter & Sherburne and druggists everywhere.

DEVELOP SHEDD PARK

Supt. Kernan in Favor of Work

The park department work for the year will be under way in a little while and the amount of work, of course, will depend upon the amount of money that the municipal council may see fit to provide. The city council has not been asked to appropriate money for Shedd park and when the request is made it looks as if it would be granted. Mayor O'Donnell stated several months ago that he believed the city should vote a sum of money each year for the development of Shedd park and he mentioned the sum of $10,000 or thereabout.

The new superintendent of parks, John W. Kernan, is very strongly in favor of the development of the park and he also believes that conditions on the commons should be improved. On the South common at 5 o'clock in the morning, less than two weeks ago, Mr. Kernan found about 40 boys playing there and he said it was somewhat of a revelation to him to find so many boys playing there at so early an hour. He allows that the commons are the most important of all and that they should be made as attractive as possible.

NURSES GO ON STRIKE

Patients in Kansas City

Hospital Suffering

KANSAS CITY, April 16.—A number of patients at a general hospital here today suffered from inconvenience following a strike of the junior nurses of the institution. Last night Miss Mabel Chamberlain, president of the Junior class, resigned when Miss Harriet Leck, the superintendent assigned her to the surgery ward against her wish. Thereupon Miss Chamberlain's classmates, 19 in number, announced they would not work until Miss Chamberlain did.

WANT AN INCREASE

Pipers and Machinists at Doott Mills Make Demand on Agent Thomas Today

A number of pipers and machinists quit work in the Doott mills today in refusal of their demand for three cents an hour increase in wages and time and a half for Sundays and overtime. They say their present pay averages about $19.50 while a few of the men make $12.42 a week at 23 cents an hour.

Agent Thomas felt that he could not grant such a large increase. The men are paid as much as those who perform similar work in other mills. The matter will probably be settled by mutual agreement. Mr. Thomas feels that in view of tariff changes the mills are not safe in increasing wages just at present.

Mullaney Released

Joseph J. Mullaney, who has been employed in the office of city engineer for some months has been released. Mr. Mullaney has held different positions at city hall during the last fifteen months. He was a clerk in the office of the superintendent of streets and highways a year ago, and also held some engineering duties to perform. He was also a chauffeur for Commissioner Brown and later succeeded the late Samuel Butterworth as inspector of sewers.

MILLS LEAVE PATERSON

Because of Strike of 25,000 Workers

PATERSON, N. J., April 16.—Two of the many silk mills now idle because of the strike of 25,000 workers for more pay and shorter hours are leaving Paterson. One firm, Aronson & Bloom, employing 250 weavers, is going to Bayonne, N. J.; the other, the Schetty Silk Dyeing & Finishing Co., with 100 on its payroll, is shipping its machinery to Gowanus, N. Y. The strike is now in its eighth week.

DISMISS ANTI-TRUST SUIT

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The anti-trust suit against the Brazilian valorization scheme, the so-called coffee trust, will be dismissed within a few days by Attorney General McInerney as a result of definite assurances from the Brazilian government that the $200,000 bags of coffee valued at $10,000,000 stored in New York have been sold to bona fide purchasers.

CAR STRUCK WAGON

Accident Near New Plant of Patterson Rubber Company Early This Morning

An outward bound North Chelmsford car which leaves Merrimack square at about 6 a. m. collided with a wagon near the new plant of the Patterson Rubber Co. this morning and caused considerable damage to the vehicle. According to the story of the accident, Mr. Joseph Clough was driving the team along the road and was accompanied by his son. He turned out for the car to pass, but somehow or other, it is said, the wagon got in too near the car tracks and as the car approached, the forward end struck the hub of the wheel of the wagon, and broke it. Neither Mr. Clough nor his son was injured. The vehicle was of the delivery variety and in it was a quantity of milk for delivery. The only damage reported was the smashing of the wheel.

MITCHELL WINS IN 13TH

Democrat Victor in Three
Cornered Fight

BOSTON, April 16.—John J. Mitchell, a democrat, was elected to congress from the 13th district yesterday after a three-cornered contest in which the tariff formed the chief subject of discussion.

Mitchell's plurality over Alfred H. Cutting, republican, was 4392. The vote for Norman H. White, the progressive candidate, was 5503.

Yesterday's special election was necessary on account of the choice of the former congressman for the district, John W. Weeks, to be United States senator. In the election last November Mr. Mitchell, who was successful yesterday, was defeated by Mr. Weeks by 2331 votes.

The total vote in the district was as follows:

Mitchell (D) 13,134.
Cutting (R) 8742.
White (P) 5503.
The vote in the district last November for congress was:
Weeks (D) 15,924.
Mitchell (D) 13,533.
Piet (P) 6533.

The tariff, and recently the Underwood bill, were practically the only topics in the triangular debates in the district. All three candidates and their supporters on the stump discussed this phase of national legislation most thoroughly. They placed their views on the different schedules before the shoe workers of Marlboro, the watch-makers of Waltham, the textile operatives in the small towns and the home dwellers in the residential sections.

Mr. Mitchell had the support of the democratic state machine, which backed up his own organization perfected more than a year ago. The republican speakers, supported by a letter from Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, attacked the new bill, while the fight for Mr. Cutting was under the personal supervision of Senator Weeks. Mr. White stumped the entire district from the Back Bay Fens in this city to the Rhode Island coast, visiting every Middlesex and Norfolk village and farm in the cities and towns, and was probably a more familiar personage to the voters than either of his opponents.

Mr. Mitchell carried all of the cities and a majority of the towns. His election evenly divides the Massachusetts delegation to the lower branch of congress.

John J. Mitchell was formerly a newspaperman and is now a lawyer. He has been a resident of Marlboro for many years. He served several terms in the lower branch of the legislature and one in the state senate. He is 35 years old.

CAMBRIDGE GIRL MISSING

Mary Sargent Disappears From Home

BOSTON, April 16.—Mary Sargent, 14 years old, of 40 Howard street, Cambridge, has been missing since last Saturday afternoon and has dropped out of sight from her family and friends as completely as if swallowed up by the earth. Every channel of possible information has been sought out by the police, but without result. Mary is the daughter of Mrs. Catherine Rogers, her mother having married a second time. She has been employed at a candy company on Main street, Cambridge, for the past year, and earned $5 per week. Saturday, as usual, she went home at 1 o'clock, did a few errands and then disappeared.

She was last seen about 5 o'clock in Central square, a short distance from a store where she had ordered and paid for a small quantity of coal. She had no money at her disposal and was dressed in her working clothes.

Her pay day at the candy factory was yesterday, but no word was received from her, nor did any one call for her money. Her new hat and coat and suit, which she would ordinarily have worn Sunday, remains at her home untouched. She wore a plain blue skirt, with a middie waist of white, and felt hat.

Neither her mother nor stepfather can give any reason for her going away. Everything was pleasant at the house. The girl, an only child, never went out nights and had only a few girl friends. Her wages were always given to her mother, who bought all that the girl required and asked for. Mrs. Rogers is greatly worried over the child's disappearance and has begged the police to find her.

Last night Mrs. Rogers told of a young Italian who made Mary's acquaintance when the family lived on Windsor street, Cambridge. He called and asked to be allowed to marry her, saying "We marry young in my country."

Mrs. Rogers says he was promptly put out of the house and had not called since. She did say, however, that she knew that he took a photograph of Mary and had a small locket picture made, which he still wears. He has been visited by the police and declares he knows nothing of her disappearance. Mrs. Rogers herself has called on him and he has told the same story to her.

Mary's girl friends at the factory can give no clue. Several of them say the last they saw of her was on Saturday at the close of work. She is of large stature and would easily pass for more than her true age.

Rev. F. A. Hayward, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hayward of 232 Plain street, this city, and for the past five years educational director of the Wisconsin Baptist Sunday schools, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Underwood Memorial Baptist church at Wausau, a suburb of Milwaukee, and will enter upon his new duties on May 1.

Knights of Equity Smoke Talk

An enjoyable smoke talk was held last night under the auspices of the Knights of Equity at their quarters. The affair was largely attended and a feature of the evening was an address by Rep. William J. Sullivan of Boston.

The address was on the early settlers of Boston and was listened to with great interest. Refreshments were served and a musical and literary entertainment was given. President William F. Daley occupied the chair.

FIREBUG IN SOMERVILLE

Several Blazes Started
In Residences

BOSTON, April 16.—The Union Square district of Somerville seemed at the mercy of a fire maniac yesterday.

Within a few hours a quiet, middle-aged man, according to Fire Chief Rich, had strolled into the basements of five different tenements, gathered together piles of kindling, lighted them and wandered out again on an incendiary tour of the district. Plainclothes men and uniformed officers patrolled the district in a frantic search for this man, while residents were trembling for the safety of their homes, and every stranger was looked on with suspicion.

That a serious conflagration did not break out in the crowded districts where the firebug was at work, according to Chief Rich, was due more to luck than to any failure in his efforts. In each case he got his blaze well started.

Sometimes he met people belonging to the houses he meant to fire, but his respectable appearance and his perfect self-possession enabled him to escape suspicion till it was too late to catch him the chief said.

It is believed the same man started two fires in East Cambridge, near the Somerville line, earlier in the afternoon. Then he transferred his attentions to the Union Square region.

With a description of the firebug whom he was sure was at work, in his possession, Chief Rich called in Police Chief Kendall, and orders were issued to arrest all suspicious looking persons in the section where the cold-blooded incendiary seemed to be at work.

NON-SUPPORT CHARGE

Minister Gave Wife Certificate as Housekeeper

BOSTON, April 15.—Charged with non-support of the wife to whom he has been married for more than thirty-one years and from whom, after giving her a certificate of her ability as a housekeeper, he separated last December, the Rev. T. Arthur Whitaker, a retired Baptist minister and head of the Welfare union, appeared in the district court at Waltham yesterday.

The court scene was but another chapter added to the publicity cast upon the matrimonial affairs of the couple during the past five months. Mrs. Whitaker, after a short trial last January, was found guilty of assault and battery upon Ella L. Weeks, proprietress of the boarding house in which her husband lived after their separation.

In court yesterday Whitaker pleaded for a continuance, contending that his counsel was not ready and unable to be present. With the consent of Mrs. Whitaker the case was put over until Monday.

Great Demonstration of Macadam Roads at Providence by the Tarvia Company

All of the macadamized streets in Lowell will be treated to one or more coats of oil this summer and that will mean the purchase of several thousands of gallons of oil. Under the $20,000 loan order passed by the municipal council at a recent meeting for the maintenance of streets there is a clause including the bituminous construction of the streets and this will be paid for out of the $30,000 loan.

The first step toward securing the oil was made yesterday when members of the city council went to Rhode Island and examined several miles of streets on which "tarvia," a product of the Barrett Manufacturing company, had been used.

The party from Lowell, as well as parties from several other cities in the eastern part of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, were the guests of the Barrett Manufacturing Co., and they were well entertained. They were taken out in automobiles and were shown various roads that had been treated with tarvia. Representatives of the company explained everything in detail and answered numerous questions. There were men in the party who are considered among the very best authorities in the country on streets and highways and they asked a great many questions that served to add to the general information. It was a day well spent.

The Lowell party included Mayor James F. O'Donnell, Commissioners Andrew E. Barrett and Lawrence Cummings, City Engineer Stephen Kearney, Superintendent of Streets Newell F. Putnam and a representative of The Sun. The trip had been arranged for by Commissioner James E. Donnelly, but he was suffering from a cold and decided it would be best for him not to make the trip.

The Lowell party left this city on the 8:35 train yesterday morning and took a train at the South station for Providence at a few minutes after ten o'clock. The train from Boston to Providence had a special "Tarvia" car for the guests of the Barrett Manufacturing company. Upon arriving at Providence the party was taken in automobiles, 15 automobiles in all, to Wickford, one of the oldest whaling towns in Rhode Island. Wickford is twenty some odd miles from Providence and is on the road to Narragansett Pier. This road was selected because of the fact that tarvia of different grades had been used on different sections of the road.

Rhode Island State Roads
It has been said that no highway construction or maintenance work throughout the world is more interesting, no road development as significant as that now progressing in the state of Rhode Island under the direction of its state board of public roads. The road improvement is deserving the attention of everybody and the men who made the trip yesterday were much impressed with what they saw. These same men, including the Lowell men, will go to other cities and other places and will view roads that have been treated with other kinds of oil. Then it will be up to them to decide what oil is best suited for the jobs they have on hand. Common street is the only street in this city on which tarvia, the oil manufactured by the Barrett Manufacturing Co., and the application of which was shown and explained yesterday, has been used. There were 57 miles of tarvia laid in Rhode Island last year and a great many thousands of gallons were used in Massachusetts.

The competition in the oil business is very sharp and the expense connected with such demonstrations as was given yesterday is very considerable. The oil company entertained over 50 men; supplied a special car from Boston to Providence and from Providence to Boston. To this expense was added the sixteen automobiles and a fine dinner in an old fashioned hotel in Wickford.

Much of the paving work now progressing in Rhode Island is on roads that will afford direct connection with the trunk lines of other states. There will be no less than six that will be available for travelers going or coming from Eastern Connecticut, and equally good connections are made with the Massachusetts highways.

Rhode Island was by no means the first state to take up systematic highway building, but it was and probably is today, with one or two exceptions, the only one to which the supervision state board is free to exercise its discretion as to methods. The only restriction on the board is that money once directly appropriated for a work must be expended for the specific purpose for which it was provided. The legislature makes annual appropriations, but bonds may be issued for specified or general purposes. The board consists of five members, and as there has been no change in its personnel since it was created in 1902, its endeavors have been along well defined lines and in accord with public requirements determined by the board after careful examination of conditions and after much discussion within and without the board.

Years of Experimentation
In 1905 the board began experiments to ascertain the efficiency of tar treated roads with the two-fold purpose of suppressing dust and resisting the wear of traffic. These experimental constructions were observed for four years and then the board declared itself satisfied with the results. Perhaps its position is best defined in the annual report for 1910. After stating that water bound macadam roads would not endure, it continues as follows:

"At the present stage of investigation the consensus of opinion appears to converge upon the use of a bituminous binder as the most practical remedy for overcoming the deficiencies characteristic of water bound macadam, although a wide difference of opinion exists among road builders as to the extent that this product should enter into the new construction in order to meet the requirements, and no one has yet pretended to lay down a rigid rule applicable to every case among conditions so diversified as those existing in different localities of our own country."

"Our own experience, however, with bituminous road building with such material as we have on hand, the details of which have been worked out that will accord direct connection with our engineering department and have been sustained by this board, has proved decidedly satisfactory. Pro-

BAD BREATH

It's Your Duty to Get at the Cause and Remove It. A Word to the Wise, You Know.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, oil the bowels and positively do the work. People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system of impurities.

They do all that dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after-effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Olive Tablets without griping, pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Take one every night for a week and note the effect.

ducing a dustless and in every way an ideal surface at an additional expense of from $100 to $200 a mile. Our first construction with a bituminous binder, after a test of nearly four years' use, appears as impervious to traffic and weather influences as when first laid; and this, too, with practically no care or expense incurred for maintenance or for laying the dust.

The report stated that in 1903 proved to be so satisfactory that in 1904 the construction of 21 miles of road to be built with a bituminous binder was authorized.

Yesterday's Demonstration
Yesterday was not the most agreeable day that ever happened for road inspection but modern convenience, and system on the part of the men who had the affair in charge, rendered the trip enjoyable as well as instructive. Megaphones were used so that a man talking quite a distance away and explaining the state of road between himself and his listeners could be very distinctly heard. The Barrett Manufacturing Co. had prepared a schedule for the day and the schedule was gone through without a hitch. Several stops were made between Providence and Wickford for the purpose of describing and explaining the road.

It was very evident that the good people in the quiet and somewhat picturesque little town of Wickford were not used to so long a procession of automobiles and they cast curious glances at the intruders. After dinner at the Wickford House the visitors strolled down to the wharf where some fishermen had just returned after a very successful catch and the way they handled those fish was a caution.

From Wickford the party went to Narragansett Pier and it might be said in passing that Narragansett is not a very lively place at the season of the year. After viewing stretches of road near the pier the visitors were taken to Kingston, about a dozen miles away where they boarded a train for Boston, a special car having been provided for their accommodation.

The representatives of the Barrett Mfg. Co. in charge of the trip, were A. D. Carpenter and H. C. Poore. The party included Major Christopher Harrison, city engineer of Everett and a member of the state engineering corps. Lawrence was represented by Mayor Scanlon, Commissioner Paul Hanlon, Commissioner Lord and Purchasing Agent McCordick. John R. Roblin, president of the Massachusetts Highway association and chief engineer of the Metropolitan park commission was also a member of the party. Mr. John A. Keyes of Concord, "Reddy" Wood's double, was another member and everybody mixed in and made it a sort of big family gathering. The Lowell party arrived in Boston in time to get the 9:59 o'clock train for Lowell.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House
The story of "The Country Boy," which the Henry B. Harris estate will present at the Opera House next Friday, April 15th, concerns Tom Wilson, whose mother is a widow and whose father was a partner of Hiram Belknap, leading citizen and lawyer of Fairview, N. Y. Tom, who loves Jane Delknap, daughter of the leading citizen, refuses a position at a meagre salary in the office of Belknap. Tom is looking for the big things to happen. He is a believer in luck and like most boys is a supreme egoist, being convinced that he can succeed easily in a large city, where his talents will be recognized.

He goes to New York city and at the first station he gets tangled up with a chorus girl who is in the same place and forgets the sweetheart back home, who is waiting for him to make good. After wasting his time and money on the actress Tom loses his position and is soon out of funds, so that the actress has no further use for him. Then to add to his cup of woe after he reaches New York, he is in the midst of a war with the landlady in the office of Belknap. A letter comes from home telling of the engagement of Jane to a rich man. They know all about his conduct in New York, and Jane has gone back on him on account of it. The landlady is most kind and turns in requests for the payment of his board bill. She holds his trunk and his watch as security, and Tom begins to realize the attitude of that other world. There is no need of boarding houses and landladies. He seriously contemplates suicide and all but succeeds in the attempt when he is saved from his desperado and attempted self-destruction by the act of Fred Merkle, a newspaperman, who has learned the lesson of the losing game in New York. At the auspicious moment, Joe Weinstein, who was in the same boarding house with Tom and Merkle, rushes in with a roll of bills he has just won at roulette and the money opens the way for the three to go back to the boy's home town and start a newspaper there. In the last act the paper is well established and Tom has won the respect of the community and has regained the promise of Jane, who quickly jilts the man to whom she is engaged in order to give her hand to Tom, whom she has loved all along.

The Playhouse
"The Thief," Henri Bernstein's wonderfully interesting three act drama, which is being so cleverly presented by The Drama Players at the Playhouse this week, is certainly deserving of liberal patronage. It is no idle boast to say that no stock company that has graced a local stage in a dozen seasons can attain the high standard of entertainment which has been established by the one which Kendal Weston has given his patrons at the Playhouse. See them in this week's production and be convinced beyond a doubt. Every detail that goes into giving a perfect performance is found here. The staging of the plays, as well as their interpretation, is well high perfect.

Merrimack Square Theatre
The Merrimack Square Theatre has for the current week's program one of the most pleasing and altogether meritorious offerings which has been presented locally for some time. "In a Tea House," the one act Japanese opera, Mlle. Clay and her statue dog, the Temple Players presenting "A 1915 Minstrel House," and "The Fifth Commandment," and Geo. Davis in a brace of new and up-to-date songs complete the vaudeville list, while the pictures of the food together with a number of other up-to-date films will be shown for the last time today, there being an entire change of subjects tomorrow.

The Kestee
"What's in a name?" you ask perhaps, are always bright. Good seats for all performances may be secured in advance at the box office. The telephone number is 25.

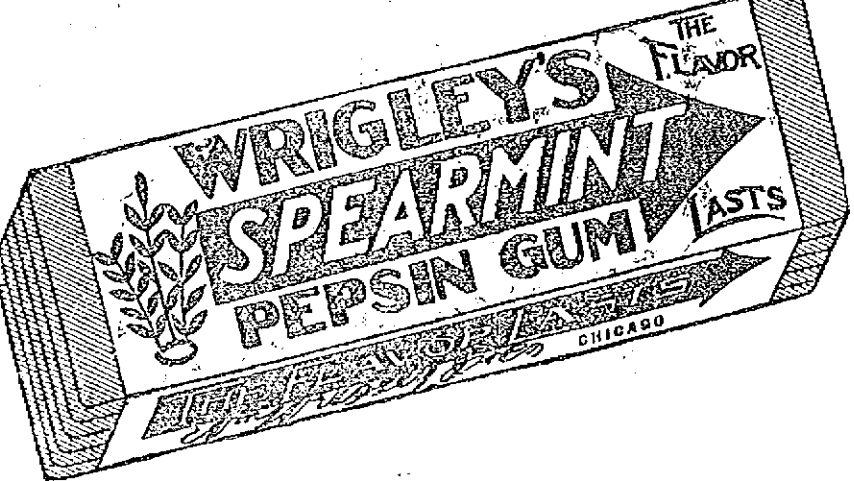

Bishop Hamilton Presided
At the Opening Session Today of the New Hampshire Methodist Episcopal Conference

SOMERSWORTH, N. H., April 16.—Bishop J. W. Hamilton of New England presided at the opening session today of the New Hampshire Methodist Episcopal conference. All meetings are to be held in the High Street Methodist Episcopal church, a historic church founded in the early part of the nineteenth century. The conference was opened with a communion service, which was followed by a business session.

BODY BECAME RIGID

Strange Death of Wareham Young Man

PASSED AWAY ONE HOUR AFTER BEING TREATED

Took Remedy Through Nose—Parts of His Body Will Be Sent to Harvard For Analysis

WAREHAM, April 16.—His body becoming rigid and death having followed within an hour after a doctor had administered an unknown remedy through the nose to Guy Craig, a 25-year-old street car conductor, Monday evening, Medical Examiner C. E. Morse yesterday afternoon notified Dist. Atty. A. F. Barker of Brockton, and last night declared that parts of the body will be sent to Prof. Whitney of Harvard Medical school for chemical analysis.

Medical Examiner Morse took this action after completing an autopsy on the body yesterday afternoon. He declined to say what the autopsy revealed, declaring that he was not yet ready to make public his findings.

The identity of the physician who attended Craig, the nature of the "remedy" given him or the names of persons who were in his home on Main street when he suddenly expired were not revealed. Dr. Morse said last night that neither the name of the physician nor the nature of the "remedy" are known by him.

Craig came here from New York six months ago as a conductor on the New Bedford and Onset street railway with his mother. They set up housekeeping in a Main street dwelling. Mrs. Craig was visiting in Melrose when her son's death occurred.

Early Monday evening Craig went to the car barn here and complained of being ill. He was told he could not be relieved of his "run" for there was no spare man to take his place. But when it became apparent that he was not in physical condition to work he was finally excused.

"He started home and asked a friend to come to the house with him," said Medical Examiner Morse last night. "A doctor was called and gave Craig a remedy which he snuffed through his nose. An hour afterward he was dead."

On being summoned to the house Gen. E. Cornwell, an undertaker, refused to prepare the body for burial until consulting the medical examiner. Medical Examiner Morse ordered the body removed to the undertaker's rooms later, and yesterday afternoon performed an autopsy there.

It is expected Dist. Atty. Barker will come here today to start a searching investigation of all the circumstances surrounding the young man's last hours.

THE TALBOT CO. PRIZES

Offered Tenants for Best Kept Premises

The Talbot mills have offered a prize competition to their tenants in which prizes will be given to the tenants who succeed in having the best kept premises, vines, window and porch boxes, flower and vegetable gardens. The contest will be open to all the tenants and, contrary to previous years, it will not be necessary to list as a contestant, as judges will visit the premises of all the company's houses several times during the year. The full number of prizes will not be awarded if the results do not meet the approval of the judges.

The prizes offered are as follows:

Class 1. Best kept premises, front and rear—Points to be considered: condition of lawn, paths and back yards, including freedom from weeds, and general neatness of grounds and exterior of house. Wherever there is a strip of sidewalk turf, it will be considered as part of the lawn. Five prizes, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.

Class 2. Vines—On houses, porches, arbors, trolley or other posts in front of premises. Five prizes, $4, $3, $2.50, $2, $1.

Class 3. Window and porch boxes—Five prizes, $4, $3, $2.50, $2, $1.

Class 4. Flower gardens—Design or arrangement will be considered, as well as variety and quantity of flowers. Five prizes, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.

Class 5. Vegetable gardens—Competition open only to children under 16 years of age. Suggestions and assistance from parents allowed. Points to be considered: Quality, quantity, and variety of vegetables and neatness of garden. Garden not to exceed 600 square feet in area. Five prizes, $4, $3, $2.50, $2, $1.

This improvement association, together with that of the Billerica Improvement association, has aided much in making Billerica a desirable place to live in and with the co-operative efforts of the tenants the same success may be accomplished this year.

Dr. H. L. Darling and Chester Trull. when a number of her school friends helped her to celebrate her birthday. Several games were played and among them one seemed to contribute more amusement than the donkey contest, when the young people in their blindfold condition tried to place the tail on the donkey, causing screams of laughter. Miss Bessie Farrell was the fortunate winner of the first prize, and the booby prize went to Miss Blanche Boyle.

After the rendering of vocal and instrumental music by the merry party a bountiful supper was served, including all the delicacies of the season, all of which were thoroughly enjoyed by the young people. Miss Johnson was presented with a large camera and outfit and many other beautiful gifts. The young folks continued their fun making until a late hour in the evening and before departing they wished Miss Johnson many happy returns of the day.

MITCHELL'S VICTORY

The election of the democratic candidate, John J. Mitchell, for the 13th congressional district is of far more than usual significance when we consider his overwhelming majority, the party issues that were so clearly drawn, and so sharply emphasized, and the comparative weakness of both the republican and progressive candidates. Being the first congressional election since the advent of the new administration, it was being closely followed in all sections of the country, and the result will be taken to indicate the present trend of political opinion in this state. Within the district are Nashua and Manchester, both important centers of the shoe industry, and all the energies of Mr. Mitchell's opponents were directed towards criticism of the new tariff bill as likely to affect the business of these towns and the other industries of this section of the country. The issue shows that the people who so overwhelmingly voted for Mitchell have the fullest confidence in the democratic party, and have no fears for the outcome of the new tariff legislation on the industries of New England. Apart from the striking personality of Mitchell, his triumph is a sweeping endorsement of democratic principles in a strongly republican district, and in particular, a vindication of the proposed tariff bill.

A comparison of the returns with the figures of November 1912 is interesting and instructive. At that time Mitchell received 10,583 to 13,934 for Weeks, the republican candidate. The progressive vote for Fiel was 5,533. Mitchell's vote yesterday was 13,134, showing that in a few months the democrats have gained over two thousand votes, leaving the strength of the opposing parties proportionately weaker. The figures have demonstrated, however, that there has been no amalgamation between the republicans and progressives. Although the latter party waged a most strenuous campaign for Norman White, and sent some of their strongest men to support him, the result showed a decrease from their vote of last November. It is very evident that the principles of the democratic party are still in the ascendant and that there is every indication that the people have full confidence in the party in power.

TELEPHONE CO. SETTLEMENT

The threatened strike of the operators of the New England Telephone company which would have seriously hampered the business activities of Boston has been averted. Most of the demands of the employees have been granted. As the terms of the agreement regarding the graduated increase in the wages of all operatives will effect the local employees as well as those in Boston who protested against the old conditions, the result is a matter for mutual congratulation. This congratulatory spirit is all the more sincere when it is generally understood that common sense has prevailed, and that neither side acted with animosity or open hostility, but seemed to be swayed by motives of reason and justice. The promptness of the company in adjusting their business to meet the new requirements will do much to arouse feelings of renewed loyalty in the minds of the operators, and the determination to give the public the efficient service which is necessary for harmonious relations between the employees and the company and, in a broader sense, between the company and the general public.

As for the terms of the agreement, they seem generous and just. The system of graduated remuneration which has been adopted is one that will be found generally advantageous by all companies which employ labor on a large scale, because it offers a reward for faithful service and acts as an incentive to beginners to take an interest in their work that they may aspire to the higher wage. The plan to give more free time to operators is also commendable as their work is very exacting and imposes a strain on the nerves which can be offset only by periods of relief from duty. The whole arrangement looks like a carefully thought out plan, and reflects credit on the good sense of the operators, the efforts of the chamber of commerce committee, which acted as intermediary, and the management of the company. The present instance is also a striking example of the method of settlement of labor difficulties which could be advantageously adopted on all occasions.

HEARST'S ATTACK

The news that William Randolph Hearst has attacked the present administration in general, and the person of the president in particular, in a long letter to the Washington Post, will be received with little surprise by the country at large. A personal attack demonstrates the weakness of the foundation on which he builds his abusive structure of adverse criticism. He merely repeats the silly arguments of "vanity," etc., with which he vainly sought to prejudice the public mind previous to the nomination of President Wilson. The present charge of "vanity" and "desire for newspaper notoriety" was called forth by the action of the president in going in person to read his address at the beginning of the present session of congress. The attack is purely personal and is prompted by dislike and disappointment rather than by sincerity.

Although Mr. Hearst apparently concurred with the strongly expressed preference of the country for President Wilson, his support of the new administration has been weak and half-hearted from the first. It is an old trick of his to follow public opinion for a time, so as to disarm any suspicion of hostility, and then to strive to instill poison into the popular mind by insidious and oft-repeated attacks. Although such a policy is generally productive of harm, it will have to be based on a firmer foundation in the present instance before his empty accusations will do any injury to the president who has the confidence of the public in a greater degree than any chief executive for many years. The hostility of Mr. Hearst is a compliment to the president, and the house did well to prevent the publication of his letter in the congressional record.

CHAIRMAN UNDERWOOD

The report that Representative Underwood of Alabama, chairman of the house ways and means committee, is in poor physical condition, is not surprising, when one considers the strenuous ordeal he has passed through in drawing up the tariff bill. Even a casual reading of its provisions will convince one that the framing of it was an almost herculean task which would impose rigorous burdens on the most vigorous constitutions. In this gigantic undertaking, Chairman Underwood, more than any other man, was the strongest factor. Although following the desires of the president, and receiving the support of his party, the enormous mass of technical detail was drafted by him personally with great patience and perseverance, and his views were so strongly impressed on the face of it that it is often referred to in the press of the country as the Underwood bill. There are few constitutions that would stand so severe and constant a strain.

Whatever one's personal opinion of the tariff bill may be, all who are truly interested in progressive legislation must hope for the speedy and complete recovery of Mr. Underwood. At the present time when the bill is being alternately commended and condemned by some sections of the country, and when it is under consideration by the house at Washington, the presence of Chairman Underwood is essential to the national debates. His personal opinions on tariff questions carry great weight, and his views are generally considered as being in accord with those of the president. His exhaustive interviews with the manufacturers of the country during the framing of the schedules give him a far broader view of both sides of the question than has fallen to the lot of most of the party leaders. For a comprehensive and thorough investigation and debate, he will be frequently appealed to during the next few months, and it is to be hoped that his indisposition is slight and transitory.

MAYFLOWERS

Reports from Cape Cod state that the trailing arbutus, more commonly known as the mayflower, is becoming very rare on the cape, and in danger of almost complete extinction. The older residents attribute the present scarcity to the carelessness and thoughtlessness of people who go to pluck the blossoms yearly and in doing so pull up the little shrubs by the roots. The result has been that the plants have grown fewer in number from year to year. This state of affairs will be regretted by all lovers of nature and wild flowers. What is true of the mayflower is true also of many other varieties. Teachers and parents ought to issue instructions to children on this point, as general carelessness might in a few years wipe out some of the most beautiful specimens of the wild flowers for which New England is famous.

TRAIN DELAYS

The officials of the New Haven railroad have followed the wise example set by the Pennsylvania railroad, in issuing instructions to their trainmen to make known to passengers, in as complete a manner as possible, the cause of any unexpected stoppage of trains, because of an accident or unforeseen obstruction, and the probable duration of the delay. Such informa-

Absorbs Skin, Chases Wrinkles—Young Again

"The shock at beholding myself in the glass after nine long weeks abroad, nearly caused a relapse," writes Emily Colson in Home Queen. "The faded face, with its lines of illness and worry, seemed thirty years older. Now, I thought, I could not attend my complexion, eleven days off, to which I had looked hopefully forward. She herself came to my rescue. She procured an ounce of ordinary cerot wax at the drug store, which she made no spread on like cold cream, washing it off next morning. Applied nightly, this apparently absorbed the withered skin, so that I experienced no discomfort. Upon the wedding morning my pallid complexion had entirely given way to one of youthful color and loveliness. And there wasn't a wrinkle. This due to a wash lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered exfolite in a half pint of water. The daily face bath had dispersed every line."

It will cost the railroads nothing and will tend to create much better feelings. In the past, one might worry and ask questions but the conductors and brakemen kept a silence as sacred as that of the Sphinx.

BOSTON SMUGGLING

A thorough shakeup is expected among the customs officials of the Boston port, due to the widespread violations of the smuggling laws which have recently come to light. Some of the subordinate officials have already been implicated in the plots to cheat the government, and as is usual in recent graft exposures, suspicion now points to "the man higher up." Secretary McAdoo is taking a personal hand in the investigation and a complete reorganization will probably be the result.

Seen and Heard

One more month and that straw "bid." Transposed, the saying is: "April pours bring no scores."

There was a hint of sulphur in the air when the sporting editor brought his blue serge coat sleeve in contact with the freshly painted wall, and heard the chief say: "Look out, you're rubbing all the paint off that wall!"

A good many people would like to have an automobile, to whom the running expenses of a wheelbarrow would be a burden.

The fat man puffed up to the window of the ticket office. He looked at the clock and saw that it was 2.31. "Have time to catch the 2.35 train?" he gasped.

"You have time," smiled the ticket agent. "But I don't think you have the speed."

Teacher (to pupil)—What are you laughing at? Not at me? Pupil Oh, no, sir! Teacher—Then what else is there in the room to laugh at?

John McManus may be a constable and a tax collector and everything else, but when it comes to officiate at a wedding, he draws the line, and this is practically what he did Saturday when a couple supplied with license from the city clerk's office, called on him and asked him to perform the ceremony. John absolutely refused to comply with the desires of the prospective bride and groom, but instead led them to the office of Haven G. Hill, and then and there the couple were duly married.

John acted as best man, but the name of the bridegroom was not divulged. At the conclusion of the ceremony the officiating justice of the peace informed the happy couple that the marriage fee was $3, but the two lovers could not find it. John refused to come up with that amount. It was then that Constable John interfered and explained that at that price the marriage was cheap, for it meant

R. F. D. No. 2, Southbridge, Mass.—"I had eczema in one of my ears that made me suffer a good deal. I could not sleep at night. It would itch so. The eczema broke out in a rash and the itching was so intense that I scratched, causing sores to form. My ear was nothing but a raw sore and I could not get the skin to grow. As I was weak and thin when I was first attacked, it took me a few days to make a good recovery. I was ashamed to go anywhere my ear looked so badly."

"I used ———— Soap and Ointment and ———— Ointment without any relief. So I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and when I had used them two weeks I began to see they were worth trying. So I bought some Cuticura Soap and Ointment and used them as directed. I washed my ear three times a day with Cuticura Soap and then put the Cuticura Ointment on and in two months' time my ear was all healed up." (Signed) Mrs. Alex. Rowley, Nov. 12, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment do so much for poor complexion, red, rough, chapped, and dry, thin and falling hair, and coat so thick that it is almost criminal not to use them. Sold by dealers throughout the world. Full-size sample of each mailed free, with 25¢ book on the skin and scalp. Address Post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

a saving of at least $10, but despite his efforts there was nothing doing for the simple reason that the man and wife were the possessors of only a single half dollar, and even though they were willing to part with it, the man of the law did not accept it and John has now the marriage certificate and will not part with it until the full amount covering the marriage ceremony is paid. John is beginning to believe that the couple may decide that a marriage certificate is not a sine qua non to their future happiness.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Election of Senators

Salem News: The News is firmly of the belief that the popular election of United States senators is going to be a good thing for the senate, for the people and for the country. The senate will be more representative. The parties must necessarily put up their strongest men—an obligation, by the way, that was not imperative when a majority vote of the legislature, in joint convention, was necessary to a choice. A legislature may sometimes be manipulated, through a majority of the membership; but it is an altogether different game to attempt to manipulate the voters of a sovereign state.

The Millinists Win

Brookline Enterprise: Mrs. Pankhurst, as many people had expected would be the case, has been released from jail after a "hunger strike" last nine days. The authorities didn't care to take chances by allowing the woman to starve longer while she was in their charge, and neither did they desire to practice forcible feeding upon her. It would mean as though in these cases of the militant and destructive suffragettes the authorities were pretty nearly at the end of their resources. Imprisonment is followed by the refusal of the sentenced one to eat, the sentiment of the public the world over is rapidly crystallizing against the forcible feeding plan, and it would never do to have the women die of hunger in the jails; so it begins to look, unless British roughs show more and more unfitness and frighten the women off of their campaign of destruction, as though the suffragettes had the upper hand.

At the Head

Lewiston American: President Wilson is not yet frightened out of his wool and sugar policy. He is maintaining remarkable control. The free wool he sticks by is one of the most important reforms. Free sugar is not so important. Indeed, a tax on sugar is more defensible than most of the existing taxes. But more important than any particular tariff rate is the president's mastery. He is at the head of the party—Staying there.

Get Busy

Lawrence American: Flies breed in unclean places; the moral of which truth is, eliminate the unclean breeding places. Don't wait until you have to swat the fly; make sure that there won't be any flies to swat. Keep the premises clean; don't permit filth to accumulate. Flies are a true indication of filth somewhere in the neighborhood. When those places out and save the lives of the children. It is a good work. Do it now.

Not Wanted

Newport News: The Industrial Workers of the World have been criticized by the labor press because they were socialists. Now the socialists in New York object to the organization because many of its members are anarchists and syndicalists. What they are are unquestionably undesirable.

Bankrupt

Burlington Free Press: Mayor Gaynor's curfew law, it is said, is to be closing up some of the New York high life restaurants, and two of the proprietors have gone into bankruptcy. It says Gotham didn't mind a midnight sharp, it would probably bankrupt the whole town.

DEATHS

SWAN—Mrs. Mary J. Swan, widow of Chas. A. F. Swan, aged 76 years, 2 months, 23 days, died yesterday at her home, 82 Eleventh street. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Charles C. Biron, and four grandchildren, Gerald S. Natalie, S. Richard S. and Gwendolen S. Biron.

DEATH OF POPULAR YOUNG PRIEST

Rev. Fr. Saunders Fatally Injured While Driving in Dracut

While driving leisurely along Lakeview avenue, in Collinsville, late yesterday afternoon, behind a horse owned for many years by his father, Rev. Edward F. Saunders, one of the best known of the younger priests of the archdiocese, and a native of Lowell, was thrown from his carriage and almost instantly killed. Master Joseph McAvinnue, son of Dr. Frank McAvinnue, who accompanied him, was also thrown out, but escaped unhurt.

Fr. Saunders, who was about completely restored to health after a lengthy illness which had incapacitated him from his clerical duties for over a year, had been taking advantage of the pleasant weather with daily drives into the country, using his father's horse and carriage, the animal being of a quiet and unexcitable disposition. His companion on this occasion was Master McAvinnue, whose home is next to that of the family of the deceased. They had driven through Dracut and were on their way home when in Lakeview avenue, at a point opposite the water tank which furnishes the water supply for the Beaver Brook mills, the horse suddenly shied, and, veering sharply to the right, threw Fr. Saunders off his guard and causing the carriage to overturn, throwing both occupants violently into the roadway. Fr. Saunders' head struck a telegraph pole with terrific force and he was picked up by Master McAvinnue in an unconscious condition. The horse continued running across a field until stopped by a farmhand. Several witnesses to the accident hastened to the aid of the injured clergyman and the ambulance was speedily summoned, taking the dying man to the home of his parents, 225 Mammoth road, where he passed away within an hour, but not before he had received the last rites of the church from Rev. Fr. Degan, who was called and rejoiced that the injured clergyman had regained consciousness. Joseph McAvinnue was seen at his home last evening and he described the accident as follows:

"Fr. Saunders asked me to go for a ride with him this afternoon, and we left the house shortly before 5 o'clock. We drove up the old Nashua road to Canney's corner and down Lakeview avenue. We were passing the big field near the Collinsville mills when the horse shied at something I don't know what. Fr. Saunders was driving with both hands at the time, and when the horse shied he let go of the reins with one hand to catch his hat, which came near blowing off. As he let go of the reins, the horse veered into the side-walk so suddenly that we were both thrown out. The first thing I remember after that is sitting in the road and holding Fr. Saunders' head in my lap. "Fr. Saunders was unconscious, and someone in the crowd that had collected, telephoned to the ambulance from a nearby house. The ambulance came and Fr. Saunders was taken to his home in Mammoth road."

In the death of Fr. Saunders the archdiocese loses one of its most promising young clergymen. Ordained to the priesthood very early in life, he had worked with untiring zeal until his health declined forcing him reluctantly to abandon the arduous duties of the curacy and take the chaplaincy of the Working Boys' Home at Newton, where he labored with most laudable results until a complete breakdown made it necessary for him to retire to the home of his parents in this city where he bore his illness with great fortitude and resignation. Recently his health improved steadily and he was about to return to active duties when death intervened. A devout and zealous minister, a convincing preacher, and a person of a charming personality, he was peculiarly fitted for the vocation he had selected for his life's work, and his untimely death will be deeply mourned by a legion of friends in the different parishes to which he had ministered.

Fr. Saunders was born in Tremont street, this city, and was 33 years of age. He received his early education in St. Patrick's Boys' school and upon graduating entered Mt. St. Mary's college, Emmitsburg, Md., where he received the degree of A. B. in 1891, and that of master of arts two years after. His piety and scholarly attainments attracted his former college president, Rt. Rev. Edward P. Allen, bishop of Mobile, Ala., and he was offered adoption by that diocese. He pursued his course in theology at Mt. St. Mary's seminary, where he was ordained by Cardinal Gibbons, at the age of 23 years. Returning to his home in this city he celebrated his first mass at St. Patrick's church, and for a time was stationed there as curate. Subsequently he served at St. Peter's church, this city; St. Ann's, Somerville, Mass., and at Dorchester and Popponesset. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Saunders; two brothers, John of Boston and Thomas of this city, and two sisters, Miss Minnie Saunders of this city and Mrs. William Burns of Detroit, Mich.

FIRST PICTURES OF CAPTURE OF GERMAN WAR AIRSHIP WHICH LANDED IN FRANCE

PARIS, April 15.—These are the first actual pictures to reach this country of the seizure of the German army airship which came down on French territory. The incident caused a big stir in Europe because of the strained relations existing between the two countries, particularly since Germany is planning to spend hundreds of millions in increasing its military resources. The big war bird came down on the French military grounds at Lunelville, near the German border. The occupants were detained and examined. They were later released when they satisfied the French authorities that they were not spying, but had been forced to descend when blown out of their course, due to motor trouble. The French officers are said to have gained inside information as to the mechanism of the big Zeppelin, although the Germans later denied that this was so.

NEGLECT OF POLICE

During Suffrage Parade Being Investigated

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The senate's investigation of alleged police negligence in the protection given to women during the suffrage parade here March 3 was resumed today when members of the District of Columbia police again were called as witnesses. Senators Pomeroy and Dillingham, constituting the subcommittee expect that the investigation will be finished soon.

Missionary Circle Holds Meeting

The Woman's Missionary circle of the First Baptist church held a meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Larkin Trull, 68 Fairmount street, and a large number of ladies were present. The topic discussed was "Russia" and many of the ladies took part.

D. H. AINSWORTH IS LOCATED

Mrs. Eaton's First Husband Found —To be Questioned Relative to Rear Admiral's Death

BOSTON, April 15.—D. H. Ainsworth, first husband of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, who has been sought by the authorities investigating the death of her second husband, Rear Admiral Eaton, has been located.

One of the investigators, while declining to tell where he is at the present time, announced that the authorities "can lay their hands on him at any time." That he may be in the far west was indicated by a chance remark of his oldest daughter, Mrs. June Ainsworth Keyes, who 24 hours ago told a neighbor that he was with her grandfather. The latter is believed to be in Nevada.

The discovery of Ainsworth by the authorities is thought to furnish a partial explanation for the re-opening of the inquiry into the admiral's death, which is expected will come very soon. What he can testify to is a matter that the authorities have not disclosed.

Those interested in the defence of Mrs. Eaton claim that the inquiry is to be reopened for another cause and not because Ainsworth has been located. They charge that the government has not succeeded in completing a good case against the widow, and that unless they secure a delay of some sort, such as would be provided by a resumed inquiry, the defence would be able to discredit their weakness through the medium of their motion for a bill of specifications to show what evidence was presented to the grand jury.

Dist. Atty. Barker and State Officer, Scott were in lengthy conference, by phone last night. Neither disclosed what was discussed. Rumors in and about Assinippi and surrounding towns were increasingly frequent that the matter may have been an insanity test for Mrs. Eaton, which is momentarily expected.

Atty. Morse and Geogan for the widow are becoming more and more confident of the strength of their case, and the latter yesterday made no effort to conceal his satisfaction that way things are shaping up. Mr. Geogan will go to Plymouth on Friday or Saturday. It is expected to see Mrs. Eaton. The latter is still busily engaged in making notes for the use of her lawyers.

The whereabouts of James Thom of Hingham, the agent of Mrs. Eaton's lawyer, was yesterday revealed to be in New York state. He is believed to be another person who will figure as a witness at the resumed inquiry.

Hughey Jennings has recommended another recruit for Manager Gray's roster. In a letter to the local manager of the Tigers' baseball general says that William Garvey of Moose, Pa., can fill most any position on a team and, in the estimation of "El Yeh" will make a valuable addition to any minor league club. Garvey has never played in organized baseball circles but has made a great record in the semi-pro ranks.

Matty Baldwin took a severe setback last night when he met Jack Britton. Britton, who is a local champion, broke with him. The reason that Baldwin was not still tied up is that he was able to get away from him. Baldwin was not still tied up is that he was able to get away from him. Baldwin was not still tied up is that he was able to get away from him.

The Winter club of Boston will be given a date here for a contest with the local team either on April 28 or 29. The game will be played for the gate receipts with the stipulation, however, that the expenses of the visitors will be paid in case they lose. The Winter Club has some team this year, many old stars appearing in their lineup. "El Yeh" McLaughlin shut out the Portland team last week without a single hit being made off his delivery.

Haverhill is still trying to get back the franchise for this season. Late yesterday a newspaper man called on Manager Gray and asked, as a personal favor that the Lowell manager espouse the cause of Haverhill if the league debt be liquidated. The main stumbling block for a team in Haverhill's town is the fact that there are no ball grounds available. It is very probable that Fall River will still appear in the New England league percentage column again unless the unexpected happens.

COOPER TO MEET BURNS LEAGUE GAMES ROLLED

Semi-Final to Moriarty-Chick Bout Bowling Came Back Strong Last Night

Jimmy Moriarty of this city will try to prove Friday night that he is one of the classiest boys of his weight in this section when he clashes with Joe Chick of New Bedford. In the main bout at the Lowell A. C. the Lowell boxer is engaging in considerable training, notwithstanding the fact that he boxed last week. He realizes from experience that Chick is a tough boy and every time he enters the ring out of condition. He is, to use his own words, "up against a hard one" and he will try to show his local admirers that he is there with the goods. Chick, too, is putting in a lot of work in preparation for the bout, and he feels confident that he will land a K. O. on Moriarty's aspirations. Johnny Cooper, under Hector McInnis, is training carefully for his semi-final bout with Larry Burns in the semi-final. Both are fast and aggressive performers and each is desirous of taking the award. The winner will be matched against Young Morgan of Manchester, and both boys want a chance at the New Hampshire Top Young Lufey and Young Halghey, who entertained last week will again hold forth in one of the preliminary bouts and Gordon Brooks will appear in the other six round go.

This morning Matchmaker Mitchell Gardner was notified that Fleming would not appear and he immediately opened negotiations with Chick and signed the New Bedford man to come here. Chick and Moriarty fought last week and both are delighted with the chance to clash again.

Jack Britton, the Chicago lightweight, and Johnny Dohan of Brooklyn will battle 10 rounds at the Irving A. C. Brooklyn, next Tuesday night.

FLYNN BEATS JASPER

Lynn Boxer Was Given the Decision

GLOUCESTER, April 16.—At the Gloucester Social and Athletic club, at city hall here last night, Eddie Flynn of Lynn got the decision over Young Jasper in 10 rounds.

In the semi-final, Tommy Dorris of Boston was awarded the decision over Eddie Ladeaux of Beverly after six rounds of hard fighting. Young Broderick of Salem knocked out Billy Jackson of Beverly in the first round.

PRESIDENT NAVIN ATTACKS COBB

Detroit Magnate Says Discipline Not Money is the Important Question at Issue

DETROIT, Mich., April 16.—Discipline, not money, is the all-important question at issue in the dispute between the Detroit baseball club and its star player, Outfielder Cobb, who is now under suspension because he refused to accept the terms of the 1913 contract tendered him by President Navin. This decision was made by Mr. Navin today in a signed statement. It is said $7500 is the amount involved in the monetary dispute. The statement follows:

"The difference between Mr. Cobb and the Detroit baseball club is not over a matter of money. There are fundamental principles involved, principles of discipline recognized in all walks of life.

"It is conceded by everybody that Mr. Cobb is the best ball player in the world. And Mr. Cobb is also the best paid ball player in the world. But this is not the issue.

"Mr. Cobb did not make baseball; baseball made him. A player cannot be bigger than the game which creates him. To give in to Mr. Cobb now in his present attitude would be to concede that he is greater than the game itself for he has set all its laws at defiance.

"Mr. Cobb instead of reporting for spring practice and giving the club the benefit of his knowledge and his play, organized a barn storming team and went through the south starring himself with daily ultimatums to the Detroit club. If Mr. Cobb can persistently defy the laws of the game what effect will he have on the other players and where will his 'I am above the law' theory end? We may as well turn the club over to him and eventually the league.

"Mr. Cobb doesn't like a room a hotel clerk gives him, he quits the club for a week. If he doesn't like what a silly man in the bleachers yells at him he punches his face and is again out of the game. He quit the game when we were fighting for a pennant and publicly stated that he would not play with his comrade in left field, D. Jones, on account of some misunderstanding with that player. If he doesn't feel like practicing he stays away from the park. He has grown to believe that his greatness precludes his being a subject to club discipline. I think Mr. Cobb eventually will recognize his fault—until he does there can be no understanding between us.

"He demands $15,000 for his services and the $5,000 to the other end of the country to fire ultimatums at me through the public press, proclaiming that no representative of the Detroit club has been 'sent' to talk business with him. Mr. Cobb is an employee of the Detroit Baseball club, he knows where the office is.

"In the past I have patiently put up with a great deal from Cobb. It has now reached a point where there must be a showdown."

baseball made him. A player cannot be bigger than the game which creates him. To give in to Mr. Cobb now in his present attitude would be to concede that he is greater than the game itself for he has set all its laws at defiance.

Team Two defeated Team Eight in the Y. M. C. A. league by the score of 12 to 1. The winners were being held until the last string had been rolled off. Manning of Team Two was high man with a total of 278.

Team Seven also took Team Four into camp in the Y. M. C. A. tournament by the close score of 12 to 1. Seade of Team Four was high with 235.

There was one lone game rolled in the Helme Electric league. The Helme Stables proved strong for the Magneto and took the match by the score of 12 to 1. McCarthy of the winners was high man with a mark of 254.

The Calvary Baptist team kept up its winning streak last night at the expense of the Highland M. E. rollers. The winners rolled up 12 to 1. The exceptional score of 14 to 1 to their opponents 13 to 1. Perrin of the Calvary Baptist was high with a total of 304.

There were two games bowled in the Crescent Two-Man league last night. Team Five outclassed Team One, and Team Four knifed down two plus more than their opponents, Team Eleven. Both games were well rolled and closely contested; 252 by Dickey was the best mark made.

Praetor's Shop won their game from Tyngsboro in a walkover last night. The winners piled up a score of 135 to 1. The visitors 120. E. Bearegard was high man with a score of 232.

The score and summaries of the various games are as follows:

TO ELECT D.A.R. OFFICERS

Delegates to Continental Congress in Session

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Delegates to the continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution were ready for the election to officers when they reassembled today in continental hall. Three women had been nominated last night for the leadership—Mrs. John M. Horton of Buffalo, the "regular" candidate, supported by the administration; Mrs. W. C. Storey of Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. Charles Bryant of Memphis, Tenn.

There are a number of candidates for vice president general. Although not so important, friends of the candidates early disclosed their interest and indulged in active campaigning. The candidates are: Mrs. John C. Jones, Illinois; Mrs. Thomas Day, Tennessee; Benjamin Gray Jr., Missouri; Miss Thomas Kite, Ohio; Miss Allen P. Parley, Pennsylvania; Mrs. John Dhuwille, Indiana; Mrs. Harriet I. Lake, Iowa; Mrs. John Van Landingham, N. Carolina; Mrs. Rhett Goode, Alabama; Mrs. John Self, California; and Mrs. R. H. Cunningham, Kentucky.

The adherents of Mrs. Storey placed in the field also Miss Wilcox of Washington, Mrs. J. W. Isgraham of Maryland and Miss Sophie Waples of Delaware. The fight for the second place on the ticket promises to be a spirited one. The dangers of the dark night were the race for president general seemingly dispelled yesterday and it was generally acknowledged that the fight lay between the three nominees.

HARRY SHEPARD
IS LOOKING FOR HIS MOTHER AND BROTHER

He Left Them in This City Years Ago and Since Then He Has Travelled All Over the World

The following letter was addressed to His Honor, the Mayor:

Amesbury, Mass., April 13, 1913.

Dear Sir: Am writing you a few lines to ask you if you can help me to find my mother and brother whom I have not seen since I was twelve years old, when I left the city in Lowell. I am not sure if they are there now. I have just got back to Massachusetts. I have been travelling all over the world, married in England and am now stopping in Amesbury with my wife's sister and her husband. I would like very much to ascertain where my mother and brother are and how they are getting on. I was brought up in a home in Anne street, was taken out at the age of nine years. My brother's name was William and my mother's name was Jessie Shepard. If you could do anything towards helping me in locating them I would be very much obliged to you. It seems to me that they would be glad to see one whom they have not seen for years and I know they would like to know much of me. But I have been kicking around the world they would not have much chance of finding me. Hoping that you will do all you can to assist me in locating them. I remain, respectfully yours, Harry W. Shepard, 8 Lynnwood Place.

KEATING IN FINE FORM

And Red Sox Were Defeated, 3 to 2

The world's champions were humbled yesterday in their second game with the Yankees. Ray Keating, of New England league fame, was the main cause for the downfall of the Red Sox. His steady work in the box, after the first inning, holding the red stockinged players helpless. Chas. and Gardner furnished the fielding features.

PRESIDENT JAMES WALKER

AT THE CHURCHES

Lowell Baptist Union Held a Meeting—Young Men of St. Anne's Heard Carl D. Burtt

The Lowell Baptist Union held its last meeting of the season last night at the Worthen Street church. A supper was served by the ladies and there were selections by a male quartet. Rev. O. P. Gifford, Ph. D. of Brookline was the speaker of the evening and he took for his subject, "Understanding the Times." His talk was very interesting.

Young Men of St. Anne's
The young men of St. Ann's church held a meeting last evening at which Mr. Carl D. Burtt was the speaker of the evening. Mr. Burtt spoke on the subject "Athletics" and among other things stated that the boy who has not only developed his physical powers but who has also developed his mental faculties, is the one that meets emergencies successfully.

FOR PRICKLY HEAT SYRACUSE DOCTOR ADVISES COMFORT POWDER

He says "I have used Comfort Powder in cases of prickly heat in children and also upon excoriated surfaces caused by acid urine, with remarkably good success, and its use so far as my practice is concerned has proven more satisfactory than any talcum powder."

MANHATTANS HELD LADIES NIGHT PRESENT BASE RUNNERS FASTER

Enjoyable Affair in the Club Rooms Last Evening

PRES. CHARLES L. CROWLEY

The rooms of the Manhattan social club in Gorham street, were the scene last evening of a most enjoyable "Ladies' night." A large number attended and all assisted in making the affair a pleasant one. The festivities opened with an address of welcome by President Charles L. Crowley. He said that the affair was the first of similar functions to be conducted by the club and he hoped that the remaining events will be as successful as the initial endeavor of the members. He also spoke of the coming farmers' ball to be conducted under the club's auspices in Associate hall on Thursday evening, May 1st. He said that at the present time indications pointed to a banner event. Two hundred have signified their intentions of participating in the parade that will precede the event in the hall. He also stated that the prizes for the ball had been selected. They include ladies and gentlemen's watches. These were on exhibition last night.

The president also presided during the evening and introduced the speakers and other entertainers. The musical program was an excellent one and included selections, Manhattan orchestra; solo, James Shugrue; solo, Jos. Chapelle; solo, Miss Kennedy; solo, Fred Lindsay; whistling solo, Wm. Carr; Charles Sadler, accompanist; solo, Steve Reynolds; solo, Chas. Sadler; solo, Babe Rogers; solo, Miss Roche; violin solo, John McQuade; solo, Katherine Miley; solo, Mary Crowley; recitation, John Frawley; solo, Jennie Spencer; solo, Mrs. Charles Emerson; solo, Kittle Mahoney; solo, Kittle Mahoney; solo, Grand finale, Tipper Hanley of the Honey Boys; acted as accompanist during the evening and his work added much to the success of the program. After the concert refreshments were served and general dancing, to music of the Manhattan orchestra was enjoyed. At the conclusion of the affair it was voted a grand success, and the committee in charge was warmly congratulated for the efficient work.

According to Hugh Jennings, Manager of the Tigers

It is the opinion of Hugh Jennings, manager of the Detroit team, that the base runners of today are, for the most part, far inferior to the base runners of the time when McGraw, Keeler, Kelley, Hanlon and Long were in the game.

"Baseball, as a game, has made wonderful strides in the past 10 or 20 years," says Hugh, "but the player of today—I am speaking in general terms—is far the inferior of the player of yesterday when base running is considered. There are faster men—that is, more faster men—but there are not nearly so many good base runners for the reason that players of today do not extend themselves along this line.

"The good base runners of the two major leagues can be counted on your fingers—almost on the fingers of one hand. Consider Cobb, Milan, Beshcher, Rush and one or two others, perhaps, and the remaining players in the big

Kidney Remedy That Acts Like Magic

I have been a terrible sufferer for a number of years with kidney and liver trouble, also nervous prostration and health generally poor, constitution entirely run down until life became a burden. I tried physicians and every available remedy but found no relief. Was induced to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial, which acted like magic, and am happy to say that I believe am entirely cured and now as good a man as ever.

I believe it my duty to make this public statement that I may help others who may be suffering from the same trouble. Swamp-Root is without question the greatest remedy in the world. Anyone in doubt of this statement or the authenticity can address me as below.

leagues are let out. Ten or twenty years ago there were lots of men who were good on the paths.

"It is my opinion that baseball will show its greatest improvement in future years, as men develop as base stealers. Stealing bases is not a natural ability. It is acquired. Up to a year or so ago Clyde Milan of the Washington team was an ordinary man on the paths, but Milan saw the advantage of cultivating his speed and learning when to take chances. Now he is one of the best base runners in the game.

do not consider Eddie Collins an exceptional or a very dangerous man when it comes to running bases. Collins has not developed himself sufficiently in the fadeaway slide, and until he gets that properly he will not cause opposing teams any undue alarm when he gets on the sacks.

"I do not believe that there is much chance for improvement along other lines. It is hardly possible that there will ever be a player the superior of Cobb. In fact, if Cobb's equal is found it will be an exception. Cobb is without a weakness as a player, and this is something that cannot be said of any other player in the game. To be sure, he had shortcomings when he broke into baseball, but he had sense enough to realize them and willingness enough to work to overcome them. That is why he is the greatest player.

"Every baseball follower in the country knows how, a few years ago, Cobb was a catch for Doc White, the Chicago pitcher. White knew Cobb had a weakness at the bat, and White preyed on it. Cobb knew the situation as well as did White, and after months of faithful hitting against a certain kind of pitched ball Cobb overcame his weakness, and White can trick Cobb no more.

"When other players begin to realize their faults and try faithfully to overcome them, then, and then only, will baseball be advanced."

McFarland Champion Wins Title

What's that? You never heard of such a thing as a champion without a crown? Well, rest your optics on Packey McFarland and then dwell on his performance and you'll have the pleasure so long denied you. Packey is the champion boxer of the world. Even Dan Morgan, manager of Jack Britton, admits it now, and when Morgan makes an admission of the sort the evidence is all in.

But, although Packey is the greatest ever, as yet he is neither fish, flesh nor fowl as a title holder. He's too big to be strong at the lightweight limit, and he fears to tackle some of the big fellows who train down to the welter or 145 pound limit.

He's a man without a class. Just now the proper move for Packey is to insist on the recognition of the old 143 pound maximum in the welter division and then go after that ringside honor.

He could get it, for the only man able to do the weight legitimately is Ray Branson, and Packey seems to have it on Ray by a mile. McFarland has only to grab for this honor to win it. But until he does he may not claim it—not with the world's champion title claimer, Branson, still unbeaten by him.

A GOOD SUBSTITUTE.

FIGHT TO PUT DUTY ON COTTON

Reps. Thacher and Webb Lead House Battle—Caucus Sticks to Plans

WASHINGTON, April 16.—A fight for higher duties on cotton goods was made in the house democratic caucus yesterday by Representative Thacher of the New Bedford district. He had much co-operation, but his three associates, as well as one by Representative Webb of North Carolina, were voted down. They will carry their fight to the senate, where Mr. Thacher has already been in consultation with Senator Hollis of New Hampshire.

The caucus was not favorable for an increase in duties by the house. Chairman Underwood, who was ill Monday in bed, came out yesterday and delivered one of the most stirring speeches the house democratic ever heard him make. He defended the present duties as adequate. But right on the heels of the discussion which lasted two hours, came reports from the election in the 13th Massachusetts congressional district. That district has been in the eyes of many congressmen of recent days, because of a possibility that it might elect a republican by its vote and thus indicate repudiation of the Underwood bill.

Figures for seven towns in the district were read to the democratic caucus. As these showed a tremendous gain for Mitchell and apparently established his election, the house democrats were jubilant. They proclaimed the result an endorsement of the Underwood bill. Word was also carried around the capitol that Senator Lodge, hearing these preliminary returns, had gone home in discouragement.

Give Up Fight in House

Massachusetts democrats made the best fight they could under the circumstances. Representative Thacher told the caucus that mills in his district running on goods of from 60 to 100 threads and over, could not continue on that class of work under the proposed tariff. He was fearful they would have to go on coarser goods and undertake to compete with southern mills.

Representatives Phelan of Lynn and Reed of New Hampshire reinforced the arguments of Mr. Thacher. Representative Webb of North Carolina also argued for higher duties, asserting that the most costly yarns should carry more duties than the less expensive ones.

The vote yesterday ends the contest in the house for higher duties on cottons. New England representatives will probably deliver some speeches on the subject, but any hope of getting the duties increased now rests with the senate.

Democratic representatives from all sections are being besieged in letter and by personal representatives of insurance companies protesting against their inclusion as taxable organizations under the corporation tax provision of the tariff bill now under consideration before the house democratic caucus.

Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee, author of the income tax feature said yesterday that his desk was piled with mail from insurance companies protesting that they are not profit making organizations. The question may be considered in caucus, but the democratic leader declares that insurance organizations were

On Amendment to the Military Drill Bill

CIGARET BILL LAUGHED OUT OF HOUSE

Governor Vetted Common Drinking Cup Bill as Likely to Deprive People of Water

Rep. Victor E. Jewett has won out in his fight on the militia drill bill. The bill introduced this year provided that one-half of the company should be present at drill in order to obtain the pay for attendance allowed by the commonwealth. This was thought too low since the present law requires 75 per cent. of the total strength enrolled to be present at a drill to secure the compensation.

Rep. Jewett in the house tried to save the bill by making the number 55 per cent, but his amendment was turned down. The bill went to the senate and that body boosted up the number 66 per cent, amendment making 66 per cent. Now the amendment, having come back to the house, has been adopted in concurrence with the senate and Mr. Jewett wins his point in the reduction agreed to.

In the senate today the Spanish war veterans' bill was killed on a voice vote without a word of debate. It had been passed by the house.

The committee on ways and means reported in the house this afternoon a new bill for the state house, extending, creating a commission of three to proceed to build lateral wings on the front of the building with power to expend not more than $100,000.

The cigarette bill which would have permitted the arrest of boys and juveniles smoking cigarettes was laughed out of the house and killed after a facetious amendment making the age limit seven years.

A bill prohibiting the use of common drinking cups in public places and in all industrial establishments where more than 25 persons are employed, was voted by Gov. Foss today.

The governor said that a previous act of the legislature authorized the state board of health to prohibit the providing of common drinking cups in public places, and he thought that the public health was sufficiently safeguarded. He believed that to deprive persons of water because of the absence of public fountains or common drinking cups would be more detrimental to public health than the danger of infection.

MGR. O'CALLAGHAN'S WILL

Policy of $1000 Goes to Poor People

BOSTON, April 16.—Of the many kind acts of the late Mgr. Denis O'Callaghan, for nearly fifty years rector of St. Augustine's church, South Boston, none gave a better and truer insight into the character of the prelate than his last testament, which was filed at the Suffolk registry of probate yesterday. His entire estate was appraised at $3500.

The legatees of many wealthy Catholics and sagacious in business matters, it was supposed by many that he had accumulated a fortune, but the $3500 of his estate indicates that he gave away practically all he ever received.

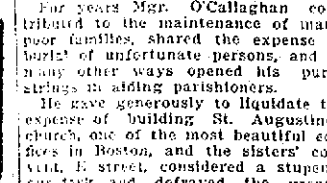

For years Mgr. O'Callaghan contributed to the maintenance of many poor families, shared the expense of burial of unfortunate persons, and in many other ways opened his purse strings in aiding parishioners.

He gave generously to liquidate the expense of building St. Augustine's church, one of the most beautiful edifices in Boston, and the sisters' convent, E street, considered a stupendous task, and defrayed the greater part of the expense of building St. Augustine's parochial school. In addition to this he built St. Monica's church, Dorchester street, and helped the Lithuanian and Polish residents in erecting churches of their own.

Of Mgr. O'Callaghan's estate, $1000 was from the proceeds of a life insurance policy in the Catholic Order of Foresters, and he left it to the poor people of his parish. He gave $500 each to St. Charles college of Howard county, Maryland, and St. Mary's seminary in Baltimore. The Home for Destitute Catholic Children in Boston, and St. Mary's Infant Asylum, Dorchester, got $500 each under the will. To the Sulphur Novitiate of St. Austin at Washington, D. C., he gave $700.

To St. Augustine's parish, over which he had charge for so many years, he bequeathed his choice of gold, and to the parochial school on E street he left his piano. After the sisters in charge of this school have selected such volumes as are needed for the school, and his relatives have taken the books they wish to keep as personal mementoes of him, the rest of his books are given to the parish library.

This will was made on Feb. 24, 1903. William J. Doogue is named as executor.

The mansion was erected in 1826 for occupancy by the president of the college. It now serves as a student dormitory.

PISTOL FIGHT IN STREET

Roland Shugart Killed and Haynes Moore Fatally Wounded at Birmingham, Ala.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 16.—Roland Shugart, a lawyer, was killed and his brother-in-law, Haynes Moore, was fatally wounded in a pistol fight on a street in the northern part of the city early yesterday.

Bad feeling between the two men originated when Shugart and his wife, who was Moore's sister, parted. Each man drew a pistol and began firing when they met on the street.

LOT OF EXCITEMENT

Caused by Contest Over a Little Girl

"Mama, mama, don't let me go, I want to remain with you," such was the piteous appeal of little Marianna Emmond, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmond, who was pulled away from her mother by her uncle, who attempted to take the child with him. Fortunately there was a robust woman in the immediate vicinity, who arrived in the nick of time, grasped the little girl from the man's hands and took her into her own home, locking the door after her. This happened in Aiken avenue, West Centralville, Monday evening, and the police were finally forced to accompany the mother and her child to the electric cars on their way to their home in Lawrence.

Mrs. Emmond is a former resident of this city and now makes her home at the corner of Lowell and Margin streets, Lawrence. According to the story she related to the writer on Tuesday evening, she has not been living with her husband since last November. When the two parted, Mrs. Emmond went to Lawrence with her boy and left the daughter in the care of the mother-in-law, who resides in Ludlum street, this city. The mother often visited her daughter in this city and all went well. A few days ago the boys took sick in Lawrence and inasmuch as it was feared he would not recover, Mrs. Emmond decided to come to this city and see her brother before he passed away. She came to Lowell accompanied by Mrs. Mae Labele, also of Lawrence. The two repaired to the home of the mother-in-law in Ludlum street, but there it was claimed they were not allowed to take the girl along with them. Mrs. Emmond told the writer she then went to the police station and was accompanied to the house of her mother-in-law by an officer, and took possession of her child. On her way to the electric car she met her husband's brother, who attempted to take the little girl away from her, wishing to keep the little one with relatives in this city.

The child cried and pleaded with her mother not to leave her, but the mother was powerless. Just as the man was about getting away with the little girl, Mrs. Emmond Arviala, a stalwart woman living at 11 Allen street, heard the child's pleading and grabbing the man by the shoulder tossed him into the street and took the child into her home. Immediately a large crowd assembled near the house, and the brother-in-law made fruitless attempts to enter but finally went away.

Patrolman Frank Sullivan, who patrolled that beat, was notified of the trouble and in a few minutes was at the scene of activities. He escorted the mother and child to Lakeview avenue, where a car was boarded and the party returned to Lawrence. The young woman in the struggle with the man was slightly injured about the left arm. She said she will keep her daughter with her in the future and it is safe to say she will not return to this city soon. This affair created considerable excitement but no harm was done and on both sides the welfare of the little girl was the only motive.

Measles Closes School

BOSTON, April 16.—The Reading board of health, at a special meeting last evening, ordered the Prospect street school closed indefinitely, owing to the discovery of 29 cases of measles among its pupils, who are of the first and second grades.

There are now 75 known cases of measles in the town, 15 having been reported since Saturday night, when the board ordered the Union street school closed.

These schools are on opposite sides of the town and the presence of measles in both of them indicates that the epidemic is general.
